NO. 283—SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1930 | TWENTY-FOUR PAGES

Dominions to Have Definite Share in British Purchases

Quota System of Wheat Buying Will Enlarge Market for Empire Grains in Great Britain—Canada and Australia Will Chiefly Benefit Under Committee's Proposal

To Supply Fixed Proportion of Needs

(Canadian Press)

LONDON, Nov. 6.—A decision which may be of great importance to Canada was made known tonight by the economic committee of the Imperial Conference through its chairman, Rt. Hon. William Graham, President of the Board of Trade.

The committee has found a wheat-buying quota plan practicable and without insuperable administrative difficulties, said Mr. Graham. Under such a scheme the Empire wheat-growing countries, chiefly Canada and Australia, will be assured of supplying a fixed proportion of Britain's requirements.

There is no definite quota figure fixed by the committee's report, and the report embodies no recommendation that the quota plan should be adopted, this question being for the heads of delegations to decide. The object of the quota is defined as being to insure that a guaranteed and, if possible, an increasing proportion of the wheat milled in the United Kingdom shall be of Empire growth.

NO PRICE FIXING

The question of price fixation does not enter the report. The Dominions would only be given a guaranteed share of market requirements at world prices. Also, the quota would not prevent the Dominions from competing with the foreign countries for the balance of requirements, after the quota has been satisfied.

FEATURES OF PLAN

Points from the report follow:

(1) While the quota would fix a guaranteed minimum for Empire wheat it would not prevent the Dominions from competing with foreign countries for the balance of the market requirements.

(2) Any quota fixed would be an Empire quota. The committee finds that fixing a quota for each of the Dominions would be administratively impracticable. The Dominions thus would compete among themselves within the Empire.

Reviewing the British situation the report says that approximately 227,200,000 bushels of wheat is milled annually in the United Kingdom.

IMPORT FIGURES

Of this amount about 13 per cent is grown in the United Kingdom. Of the total imports in the six years ending 1929, the proportion consigned from Empire countries was 48 per cent to this figure. However, another 5 per cent is added to cover Canadian wheat reaching the United Kingdom through United States ports and classified as American. Of the wheat actually milled in the United Kingdom, about 47 per cent was of Empire origin, including home-grown wheat.

A further 335,000 tons of flour, chiefly of Empire origin, is imported annually to the United Kingdom. If this is classified as Empire wheat the proportion of Empire wheat consumed in the United Kingdom would be increased from 47 to 49 per cent of the total United Kingdom consumption.

SASKATCHEWAN WILL HAVE NEW SCHOOL SYSTEM

Twelve-Year Course Without Break Between Public and High School Work

COMMISSIONER TELLS OF RADICAL CHANGES

SASKATOON, Nov. 6.—Radical changes to be carried out by the Department of Education in connection with high school work in the province resulting in a central unified system involving a twelve-year course of public instruction without any breaks between public and high school work as at present, were outlined by Dr. J. S. Huff, commissioner of education for the province, in an address before the delegates to the teachers' convention opening here today.

"I am utterly opposed," declared the speaker at the outset of his address," to the belief that is fairly general both in Canada and the United States, that the child of high school age is a different creature from the child attending public school and that therefore it is necessary to have a distinct high school, that there must be a different course of study, different buildings, different boards for public and high school and different rates of taxes, defining high school work as an extension of the foundation laid in the junior grades.

Dr. Huff stated that there was no more reason for the occurrence of a break between Grades 8 and 9 than between Grades 5 and 6.

POLICE HALT PARADE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Flashing police batons today quelled an attempt of some 500 Communists to raise their banners in the shadow of the City Hall and to parade following an unemployment demonstration. Two or three ringleaders were routed with billies and a few constables received blows from fleeing mobsmen. But none were seriously injured or arrested.

DO-X LEAVES FOR ENGLAND ON SATURDAY

Twelve-Motored Seaplane Will Depart on Another Lap of Long Voyage

EXPERIMENTAL FLIGHT CONTEMPLATED TODAY

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 6. — The DO-X, largest flying boat in the world, probably will leave Saturday for England on another lap of the flight intended eventually to set the great craft down in New York Harbor.

The DO-X soared from Altenrhein yesterday and came down here after an easy flight, but was prevented from going farther by the weather. When Dr. Claude Dornier, one of the builders, arrived tonight by train from Berlin, he said forecasts indicated the weather would be excellent on Saturday, hence a start would be made for Galshot.

The length of stay in the English town is as yet undetermined, depending on the weather, but the departure from there will be toward Havre and then Lisbon, where the long-dreamed-of flight to America will begin.

Dr. Dornier said that the twelve-motored DO-X, which has greatly excited sightseeing Hollanders, probably would make an experimental flight about 11 a.m. Friday, going to The Hague and Rotterdam.

B.C. Federal Agreement Is Now Complete

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Cabinet today approved the last of the agreements with the provinces under the Dominion unemployment relief scheme. The agreement with the British Columbia Government, under which that province will receive from the Dominion Exchequer the sum of $900,000 for public works was given final approval at today's lengthy meeting.

In addition to the contribution of $900,000, the Province of British Columbia will also share in the $4,000,000 fund set aside for "direct relief."

MAN IS DROWNED IN VANCOUVER HARBOR

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6. — Peter Logie, fifty, former longshore foreman, was drowned early tonight, when he plunged from the wharf at C.P.R. Pier No. 6, according to a report made to the police. The body was recovered an hour later by the police boat crew.

Police say he was seen to plunge from the wharf by J. Clarkson, C.P.R. employee, who called them to the scene.

Six Airmen Missing In North Believed To Have Lost Lives

Search for Burke Party in Liard District Temporarily Abandoned—More Assistance Asked in Hunt for Renahan Plane

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—A death toll of six is fast becoming the fixed opinion of those engaged in the hunt for British Columbia's lost flyers.

From the Far North, Atlin advised today that the search for Captain E. J. A. Burke and his two companions has been temporarily abandoned. These three have been missing since October 11, when they left Liard River post for Atlin, and, with little food, their chances for safety in the rugged storm-swept country are very slight.

And between Butedale and Prince Rupert, Pilot Robin Renahan and two companions, flying from Vancouver to aid in the Burke rescue, have been missing since October 28.

Burke's companions were Air Engineer Emil Kading and Bob Marten, a prospector; while Air Engineer Frank Hatcher and Sam Clerf, of Seattle, a prospector, were with Renahan.

A plunge into some rugged mountainside may very possibly have been the fate of the Burke trio, while the waters of one of the dangerous coast channels may hide the fate of Renahan and his fellows.

Pilot Frank Dorbandt has spent a fortnight searching out of Atlin for Burke, in the worst of flying weather, and now has given up the hunt and returned today to Anchorage, Alaska. However, a Treadwell Yukon Company plane en route to Mayo, Yukon Territory, with mail, will return to Atlin if another plane is sent to help in the search.

SEARCH LOWE INLET

Pilot Anscel Eckman, in his seaplane Wrangell, left Prince Rupert today to look for Renahan. Thomas Smith, of Prince Rupert, has reported that on October 28 he sighted a plane flying low and very fast over Lowe Inlet. The search is accordingly being concentrated in that vicinity.

Application has been made to Ottawa by the Airland Manufacturing Company for assistance from the Royal Canadian Air Force. Meanwhile, Canadian patrol boats are patrolling the coast on the lookout for Renahan.

IDAHO BANK ROBBED

CHINESE COMMUNISTS FIRE UPON GUNBOATS

Outlaws Prey on Commercial Shipping on Yangtze River—Reds on Warpath

HANKOW, Nov. 6.—Local customs authorities today announced that during September and October Red cannonaders between here and Ichang had fired upon commercial vessels on the Yangtze River 120 times and also had attacked numerous gunboats. The outlaws, who infest the river banks for miles, have been preying upon commercial shipping in spite of the efforts of both Chinese and foreign gunboats to protect private craft.

Recent reports also indicated attacks were continuing, despite a Chinese announcement saying Chinese gunboats would sweep the river banks clear of these outlaws. At present the majority of the Chinese gunboats are tied up at Nanking and Ichang.

Despite the Nationalist Government's announced drive against Communists in Hunan and Kiangsi Provinces, advices indicated the Reds had gone on the warpath in the northwestern part of that province, near Pingkiang, looting and killing freely, while the military of that area fled.

TRAGIC OHIO BLAST KILLS SEVENTY-NINE

Some of Twenty Others Injured in Mine Explosion Expected to Die

MANY BODIES MIGHT NEVER BE RECOVERED

State and Federal Investigations Into Cause of Accident Under Way

MILLFIELR, O., Nov. 6.—The inhabitants of this little mining village, who were spared in the explosion at the Sunday Creek Coal Company No. 6 mine, resumed their normal ways tonight, although stupefied by yesterday's disaster.

The explosion killed seventy-nine persons, including seven officials of the company, and injured twenty others who are in hospitals. Some of the injured are expected to die. There was a possibility, officials said, that other bodies were in the mine and might never be recovered. It was feared several others may have been blown to pieces by the explosion in the shaft or buried by falling walls and ceilings.

SEARCH OF RUINED TUNNEL

State and Federal investigations were under way, but actual search of the ruined "West Eight" tunnel, scene and cause of the explosion, will not be undertaken until tomorrow, J. J. Forbes, derictor of the Bureau of Mines at Pittsburg, will be in charge. He will be assisted by W. E. Smith, chief of the Ohio Bureau of Mines.

Rescue work continued throughout last night and the last of the bodies had been removed before noon today.

The bodies of seventy dead miners lay in the company store here until prepared for burial and claimed by their families. They were turned over then to relatives for private burial and these solemn, pathetic rituals will be recited many times tomorrow.

IDENTIFICATION COMPLETE

Identification was complete this afternoon except for one body, the Red Cross announced.

Members of an inspection party which was approaching a recently-constructed air shaft a mile and a half away from the main entrance were killed instantly by the explosion. They included W. E. Tytus, president, and P. A. Coen, vice-president of the company. Their bodies were sent home for burial.

LUMBERMEN MAY STAY IN CAMPS

B.C. Loggers' Association Makes Proposal to Government on Issue

WOULD REFUND OUTLAY

Advanced as a remedial measure which would lighten some of the burden of caring for unemployed congregating in Coast cities, British Columbia lumbermen yesterday laid proposals before the special unemployment committee of the Cabinet whereby, it was declared, 7,000 loggers could be fed and housed throughout the Winter until such time as the industry, which normally employs 11,000 men, could absorb them again.

Single men, out of employment through reduced logging operations, could be returned to their camps, to be given shelter and food there, said T. A. Lamb, acting as spokesman for the British Columbia Loggers' Association. Reduced rail fares to effect this purpose might be granted by the railways, and funds needed to feed the men could be advanced by the Government, rebatable by agreement with the men, when their jobs were again open to them, it was represented.

COULD LIGHTEN BURDEN

In this way, said Mr. Lamb, with slight outlay, the authorities could lighten the burden of caring for large numbers of idle men in cities, and be finally recouped for sums so expended. Married men, he thought, should be included in the ordinary municipal or other schemes, as best handled in that way.

The committee, which is composed of Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Labor, chairman; Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, and Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, took the matter under advisement, thanking the delegation for its interest in the problem.

Representations by the British Columbia lumbermen were endorsed by a Vancouver city delegation which waited on the Cabinet committee at the same time.

Sets New Mark for New York-Havana Trip

HAVANA, Nov. 6.—Nine hours and twenty-one minutes after leaving New York this morning, Capt. Frank M. Hawks tonight set his mystery monoplane "12" down in the semi-darkness of Curtiss airport with a new record for an airplane flight from the American metropolis to the Cuban capital.

Captain Hawks left Curtiss Field at 8:50 o'clock this morning and landed here at 6:11 tonight. He lost forty-three minutes en route, stopping at Jacksonville and Miami.

LATE GOVERNOR FOR AUSTRALIA HERE ON VISIT

Lord Stonehaven, Former Governor-General, Is on His Way Home

TO ADDRESS CANADIAN CLUB AT NOON TODAY

Lord Stonehaven, former Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia and now on his way to England, arrived in Victoria yesterday morning aboard the Aorangi and will remain in the Capital City until Sunday. During his stay here he will be in residence at Government House, the guest of Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce.

On his arrival at the outer docks, Lord Stonehaven was greeted by Commander Leonard W. Murray, representing the Governor-General of Canada, Lord Willingdon, who is a personal friend of Lord Stonehaven; A. M. D. Fairbairn, secretary to the Lieutenant-Governor, and others. Accompanying His Lordship were Lady Stonehaven and their two daughters, Hon. Ariel Baird and Hon. Ava Baird.

TO SEE CANADA

The former Governor-General of Australia told newspapermen that twenty years had passed since last he visited Canada and he intended to spend some time in the country in order to become better acquainted with conditions. He has accepted an invitation from Lord Willingdon to spend several days at Rideau Hall, Ottawa. With regard to current developments in Australia, His Lordship stated he had been out of touch with the matters concerning the Commonwealth as he had spent a month in New Zealand and had been three weeks at sea. He said that no appointment had yet been made to the Governor-Generalship, but Lord Somers, Governor of the State of Victoria, was in charge until the return of the Premier, J. H. Scullin, who is attending the Imperial Conference in London.

VISITS THE PREMIER

Accompanied by Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, Lord and Lady Stonehaven called on Premier S. F. Tolmie at the Parliament Buildings yesterday afternoon and met members of the Cabinet, who suspended an executive session to greet the distinguished party. The party made a tour of the Buildings and displayed keen interest in the Government seat and its surroundings. Premier Tolmie extended a cordial welcome to the visitors, which was heartily endorsed by the members of the Cabinet.

Today, at noon, Lord Stonehaven will address the members of the Victoria Canadian Club at luncheon in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel. In the evening Lord and Lady Stonehaven will be guests at dinner and a reception at Government House to which a number of prominent Victorians have been invited.

RUSSIAN DECLARES EUROPE IS FACING GRAVE WAR DANGER

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Minister, Says New Antagonisms, Political and Economic, Have Arrayed Nation Against Nation in Hostile Posture—Sees World Peace Menaced

Wages Attack on Disarmament Branch of League of Nations

GENEVA, Nov. 6.—Resuming its efforts to draft a general disarmament convention, the League of Nations Preparatory Disarmament Commission had its first sitting today enlivened by an attack from Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Minister. The Russian delegate, in a declaration ruled out of order by Chairman Loudon, denounced the commission for having rejected the Soviet disarmament proposals at earlier sessions, spoke with sarcasm of the "speed" with which the league disarmament programme is advancing, and told the assembled statesmen that Europe faces grave war menaces.

DANGEROUS FOR PEACE

Since the commission met last in the Spring of 1929, he said, new antagonisms, political and economic, have arrayed nation against nation in a hostile posture and created a situation dangerous for world peace. His attack was particularly directed against that school of political thought which demands security before disarmament.

No reply was made by other members of the commission.

It was decided the session shall proceed without general discussion and take up immediately where work was left off eighteen months ago in the second reading of a draft treaty.

NAVAL LIMITATION

Tomorrow the commission probably will take up naval limitation. An attempt will be made to transfer the methods arrived at during the London Conference with the commission's draft convention, applying them to all powers, great and small.

Lord Cecil told newspapermen tonight the British delegation expected to lay before the commission a proposal for limitation of budget expenditures on land, sea and air forces and on materials.

PERMANENT COMMISSION

The British delegation submitted today a proposal for incorporating in the draft convention a provision to establish a permanent disarmament commission. This body would be composed of one representative each of the current members of the League Council and of the United States and Russia. It would have general supervision over questions of execution of a general disarmament treaty.

G.O.P. Has Plurality In Senate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Final returns for the Senate in Tuesday's election gave the Republicans a plurality of one and probable control of the organization.

Democrats and Republicans were deadlocked in the nip-and-tuck battle for the House. With two districts still doubtful, each had 216 members, with 218 necessary for a majority.

Representative Vestal, of Indiana, Republican whip, was leading by three votes in one of these doubtful districts, and Representative Yates, Republican member at large from Illinois, was just ahead of a Democrat in the other.

MAY HOLD BALANCE

It was still possible for an even division, which would leave the balance of power in the House with the lone Farmer-Labor member, Kvale, of Minnesota.

The line-up in the Senate also was so close that it was entirely possible that the lone Farmer-Labor member, Shipstead, of Minnesota, might hold the decision on organization there.

The re-election of Senator Schall, Republican, Minnesota, and the defeat of Senator Robsion, Republican, Kentucky, by M. M. Logan, Democrat, ended the Senate contests. The make-up of the next Senate stands:

Republicans, 48; Democrats, 47; Farmer-Labor, 1.

EDUCATION BILL GIVEN SUPPORT

Labor Government's Measure Passes Second Reading on 294-227 Vote

LIBERALS RENDER AID

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Thirty-three Liberal members of the House of Commons voted with the Labor Government tonight when the administration's Education Bill, raising the school-leaving age, passed second reading by a majority of 67. The vote was 294 to 227.

The bill raises the age from fourteen to fifteen years. The Government claimed the measure would keep 300,000 children off the labor market for another year, enabling 150,000 adults to obtain work.

Rt. Hon. Lord Eustace Percy, president of the Board of Education in the last Conservative Government, argued the bill would increase the taxation of the employee class by $8,000,000 annually.

The thirty-three Liberals who voted with the Government included Sir Robert Hutchinson and Sir John Simon.

PUERTO MONT, Chile, Nov. 6.—Cabulco volcano today was reported in eruption. The inhabitants of the surrounding territory are greatly alarmed.

Oil Tanker Aground in Dense Fog

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Lost in a dense fog, the Richfield oil tanker Tamiahua ran aground tonight fifty miles south of San Francisco.

Several tanks were leaking, radio messages said. She lay broadside inside a reef a quarter mile off Pigeon Point, near Pescadero. Waves broke over her stern.

Three tugs dispatched from San Francisco to float the tanker were expected to reach Pigeon Point about midnight.

RETAIL PRICE OF GASOLINE CUT TWO CENTS

Wholesale Rate Is to Remain as at Present Time

REDUCTION EXPECTED TO BECOME GENERAL

The price of gasoline in many of the retail places of Victoria dropped two cents to thirty-one cents a gallon, and at least one local motor dealer was selling it at thirty cents. The wholesale price charged by the different companies has not been reduced, it is stated. Coincident with this change in price in Victoria comes the information that a similar line is being followed in Vancouver.

In this connection there is a one-cent differential in the wholesale price of gasoline in favor of Vancouver as against the price charged here.

It appears likely that there will be a general falling in line with the new price on the part of the different stations in the city. In many instances it is felt by the retailers that in the reduction the wholesalers should have assumed the major part of the cut. At a meeting representatives of the Auto Club and the retailers of the city held recently a resolution favoring the reduction on the part of the wholesalers was passed. This, however, has not been made and, if the reduction is to come, the retailers will have to carry it.

In many instances the retail service stations are owned by the wholesalers and rented by the operators. It is therefore denied by the wholesalers that any dictation of retail prices can take place. All the retailers are at liberty to set their own price.

Briand's Foreign Policy Is Vigorously Assailed

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Aristide Briand's foreign policy, particularly with reference to rapprochement with Germany, came under heavy fire in the Chamber of Deputies today.

Franklin Bouillon, Opposition deputy, delivered the main attack this afternoon. Briand probably will reply tomorrow. Despite the fact that Franklin Bouillon expressed sentiments with apparently pleased supporters of the Tardieu Government, it was generally thought the dilemma in which they would place the Government if they should repudiate the Foreign Minister will prevent defections that would endanger the life of the Cabinet.

"CHANGE YOUR ATTITUDE"

Directing his main fire at Franco-German relations, Franklin Bouillon said:

"The German elections have proven that your policy for the past five years has been a mistake. I beg of you to admit it now and repair it by changing your attitude while there is yet time."

He referred to the parade of the steel helmet organization in Coblenz a month after the Rhineland was evacuated. He also cited President Von Hindenburg, Chancellor Bruening and other political leaders to show that nearly all parties and a vast majority of the German people were behind a campaign for revision of the Treaty of Versailles.

FRONTIERS OF VERSAILLES

"France must let it be known that never under any pretext will she tolerate that anybody, directly or indirectly, touch the frontiers of Versailles," he cried.

"The frontier of Poland is a frontier of France and the frontier of France is and must remain, the Rhine, despite the pretention in Germany that the Rhine is a German River but not the German frontier."

Franklin Bouillon declared that revision of any of the frontiers would put Alsace-Lorraine in danger. "The Locarno Pact guarantees our frontier," he said, "but one of the guarantors is Italy, where the talk now is mostly of war and revision of treaties."

Salvation Army Officer Tells of Work in Korea

ASSISTED BY JAPANESE

On furlough, after a long period of service in Korea, or Chosen, as it is now called by the Japanese, Ensign and Mrs. G. S. Arndt, Salvation Army workers, passed through Victoria yesterday on the Aorangi, en route to New York.

Conditions from a religious standpoint are very encouraging in Chosen, Ensign Arndt stated, and the Salvation Army is making splendid progress in its work. The organization received every encouragement from the Japanese administrators of the country, who have achieved a marvelous transformation since their occupation of the ancient kingdom. Railways, equal to any, now traversed many portions of the land, highways were being rapidly constructed, while Seoul had everything a Western city could boast in the way of modern facilities.

The Salvation Army workers find the native Koreans highly ambitious and eager to acquire knowledge, and, while many of them resent the administration of the Japanese, it is going to prove a great blessing in the long run.

Speaking of the Army's work, Ensign Arndt stated that in Seoul, where the headquarters of their regional centres was located, a rescue home for women had been established, while for some time a beggar boys' home has been conducted. This latter institution has been assisted greatly by the Japanese administration, which appreciates its objects. The boys are taken from the streets, eighty-five boys being taken care of and educated at the present time. The Japanese authorities are now proposing to enlarge this home, so that 150 boys can be accommodated and watched over.

Homes for girls and orphan children are also contemplated by the Army, whose work, while assisted in the matter of buildings and encouraged by the Japanese, is largely supported from the general funds of the organization, chiefly derived through the Self Denial offerings of their friends throughout the world.

Concerning the depression which prevails generally, Chosen is no exception, concluded Ensign Arndt. "We have a soup kitchen in Seoul, where we supply over 300 hungry human beings every day, or at the rate of 3,000 a week."

Ensign and Mrs. Arndt visited in Melbourne, the former home of the latter, and intend to spend some time in New York, where Mr. Arndt's relatives reside, before returning to the scene of their labors south of Chosen.

DRAMA SEASON IS INITIATED

Three Playlets Splendidly Presented by Mimes and Masquers Last Night

FINE TALENT SHOWN

What threatened to be a peculiarly barren season dramatically is suddenly yielding a small harvest of interesting events, the first of the fruits being proffered last evening by the Mimes and Masquers' Guild at the Shrine Hall.

The three one-act plays selected for the occasion made a splendid little entertainment, distinguished by the triple merit that each had intrinsic interest of a distinctive kind; that each furnished an excellent opportunity for the expression of histrionic talent on the part of half a dozen actors; and that the producing of each called on a further group of artists required behind scenes for the costuming, staging and general producing.

All these latter details, it may be mentioned here, were admirably attended to. Each play required its own distinctive setting, dressing and lighting, and this was achieved with strikingly fine effect.

The selection of the material was very fine. The first of the playlets, "'Op o' Me Thumb," was of the "curtain-raiser" comedy type, a cross between pathos and laughter, the plot revolving round the romantic imaginings of the orphaned laundress, Amanda Affick, and the subject of her romancings, Horace Greensmith. The former role was splendidly filled by Kathryn Barr, whose lugubrious Cockney intonations gave a lively reality to the part of the drab and friendless, yet acutely funny Amanda, who has built an imaginary hero into the shirt of ancient vintage which she has been carefully holding against the anticipated return of its owner. This last, 'Orace Greensmith, arrives in due course, amazed and scornful of the attention which has been lavished on his uncalled-for linen, but eventually he capitulates to the flattering quality of the little laundress' affections, and after presenting her with a gaudy brooch invites her to spend the coming holiday with him on 'Ampstead 'Eath. The anticlimax, which is the patho-comedy climax of the play, comes when Amanda realizes the shallowness of her hero.

CHARACTERIZATION

The characterization of the two principal parts was very fine. Kathryn Barr had much the heaviest role to play, being continuously in the centre of the scene, and the focal point of attention. Her acting in the scene with the other laundry girls, who mercilessly twit her about a lover in whom they do not believe, her behavior under the attacks of Mme. Didier, the owner of the Blanchisserie Francaise; and her subtle manoeuverings to win the favor of the scornful 'Orace showed a high measure of imagination and sympathy with the part. The Cockney was admirably simulated, although in this respect H. S. Hurn in the role of 'Orace, which he acted with convincing realism, surpassed all other members of even this very clever little company. Mme. Sanderson-Mongin was spirited in the role of Madame Didier; Mrs. D. B. McConnan, Helen Hurn and Frances Madeley were very able in their respective parts as the other girls, "Celeste," "Mrs. Clem Galloway," and "Rose," respectively.

This clever act was directed by Rena Grant, with a realistic setting.

OSCAR WILDE FANTASY

"The Birthday of the Infanta," a fantasy by Oscar Wilde, adapted by Stuart Walker and directed by Percy Barr, was a delight to the eye as well as interesting dramatically.

Ara Hayne as the Infanta, played with an imperious and child-like charm the part of a princess who has never known the pleasures of real childhood, but craves them so much that on this occasion, her fifteenth birthday, she demands the right to have, for once, her own way. The scene represents her in the swift transitions of mood from the spoiled princess who must be obeyed, to the half-frightened child cowed into submission by the haughty disapproval of her lady-in-waiting, the part taken by Miss Hope Leeming with a great deal of charm but a little less hauteur than the part seems to demand.

While there was a pretty unconscious pathos about the beautiful little Infanta, whose reed-like voice had great charm; there was a real tragic quality in the figure of the "Fantastic," the hunchback dancer who has been bought by the Count Tierra Neuva as a birthday gift for the princess. Fraser Lister in this character presented the most superb bit of acting of the whole evening in the scene where, as the slave who has been thrown a rose by the princess, he is left alone in the throne-room with his floral treasure. His discovery in a mirror of his own unfamiliar reflection which he takes at first to be a laughable deformity of the streets, then for "Echo," familiar through the folk-lore of his hill-people, but finally recognizes as his own image, provides a scene of poignant significance, for at the unhappy consciousness of his own ugliness and the contemptuous amusement which this must have caused the lovely Infanta the poor hunchback dies. The amateur stage has rarely seen a finer bit of acting than was given in this episode.

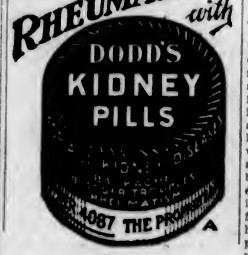
Other actors in the playlet are Dan Macdonald as the chamberlain, and Leo Marston and Charles Swannell.

"THE ROMANCERS"

A delicious comedy in a classical dress was seen in "The Romancers," written by Rostand, translated by Barrett Clark and directed by Ella Cameron. It is a story, like Pyramus and Thisbe, of two lovers and a wall; with the addition that two fathers and a hired accomplice enter into the story as well. The lovers are found, on the rise of the curtain, leaning side by side over the wall, in what they confidently believe to be a clandestine meeting, the tradition being that the fathers are mortal enemies of life-long standing. This, it proves, is a myth, arranged by the fathers themselves in the confident hope that "forbidden fruit" will prove desirable, and that the two young people will inevitably fall in love. Which they do. It is all excellently acted, Thelma Johns making a coquettish "Sylvette"; Cleaver Wilson an ardent "Percinet," and Leslie Hardie and Edgar Kidd the parents, both acted with splendid humor, and Charles Ozard the very ornate and business-like accomplice, Straforel.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Mackenzie, and a party from Government House, which included Lord and Lady Stonehaven, attended the performance, which is to be repeated tonight.

Relieve RHEUMATISM with DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS



Fables and Foibles

Being Verse and Worse

By H. T. M.

THE SQUIRE AND THE VICAR

The Squire dined on devilled crab
And oysters with a quart
Of whisky, and a healthy slab
Of cheese (the active sort).

With dinner done, though wed, he seeks
Those softly-mentioned dives
Where Satan, 'mong the bottles peeks
At scamps that fool their wives.

Next morn he's up, in merry vein
And gulps a dose of Eno's,
Then peeks into his wife's domain
And winks, "How little she knows!"

He breakfasts well on caviar
Besprinkled with Cayenne,
Then settles 'neath his "guiding star,"
"La Vie Parisienne."

And thus, for eighty years and nine,
The Squire maketh "whoopee."
And on his death, his friends define
A halo 'round his toupee.

* * * *

The Vicar droned a lengthy "grace"
Before a meagre meal,
No wine to warm his haggard face,
Just milk and potted veal.

And when the crumbs were swept away,
He saunters to his Den,
To kneel, beside his wife, and pray
The cause of evil men.

At dawn he slips his withered shanks
In nether-hose and satins,
And waits awhile to "offer thanks,"
Then cycles off to Matins.

At breakfast-time the Vicar pecks
A solitary herring,
Then flies again to cheer the wrecks
Whose lives are ever erring.

And thus for fifty grilling years
With milk his strongest tonic,
The Vicar scrapes and prays and cheers.
Then dies of something chronic!

L'ENVOI:

The Squire's progeny were "round,"
The Vicar's lean and many,
The Squire left a million pound,
The Vicar, not a penny!

Let not this epic, sad but true,
Your faith in God dishevel—
The Vicar, straight to Heaven flew,
The Squire to the Devil!

ATLANTIC LINES TO CURTAIL SAILINGS

Six Large Steamship Companies Co-Operate to Reduce Winter Competition

LONDON, Nov. 6.—With a view of eliminating unprofitable competition during the Winter months, six of the largest British lines operating in the North Atlantic have worked out a system of co-operative operation, which is being made effective immediately.

The Cunard, White Star, Red Star, Canadian Pacific, Anchor and Atlantic Transport lines are the companies affected by the arrangement, which is somewhat similar to that worked out several months ago by the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd lines of Germany.

The principal feature of the scheme is an alternate running arrangement whereby sometimes there will be only four ships sailing weekly to New York from Liverpool, London and Southampton.

Equally drastic reductions over Canadian routes will be effected.

Advertisements listing combined sailings of the six companies have appeared in London newspapers.

LECTURE TONIGHT IS QUITE DISTINCT

Announcement is made from the Reformed Episcopal Church that the lecture "Touring Europe to the Passion Play," to be delivered by Dr. Clem Davies tonight in Cridge Memorial Hall will be quite distinct from the lecture to be delivered tomorrow by the lecturer at the Metropolitan Church. Tonight's lecture will lead up to and dwell largely on the Oberammergau event in order that many who have not had the opportunity to hear Dr. Davies on this wonderful event may avail themselves of this chance to do so. Dr. Davies' Metropolitan lecture on Saturday will be so extensive that there will be no time to include the Passion Play pictures; therefore, those intending to hear and see the play should be at the Cridge Memorial Hall tonight, behind the Crystal Garden.

Toe Nail Was Fatal to Old French Duke

LONDON, Nov. 6. — It became known today that Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy, died of an ingrowing toe nail, which infected his foot.

Although the histories reveal that Charles died in 1477, the manner of his demise has just been related to the National Council of Mental Hygiena by Dr. G. W. James.

Dr. James, who has been diagnosing illnesses which killed ancient kings from historical references to the symptoms, also informed the council that King Stephen, John, Henry V and Edward I died of typhoid.

Mary I, he said, was a victim of influenza.

PRAISES RIFLE SHOOTING HERE

Marksmen of High Standard in B.C., Says Colonel Birdwhistle

CONGRATULATES LOCALS

Addressing members of the United Services Institute of Vancouver Island at the Armories last night, Lieut.-Col. R. J. Birdwhistle, secretary of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, paid a tribute to the high standard of marksmen in British Columbia. This province, said Colonel Birdwhistle, has supplied a great proportion of the Canadian team to Bisley for many years, and your district association and the marksmen are to be congratulated. The speaker made refence to the splendid showing of the Canadian marksmen at Bisley.

During the course of his address, Colonel Birdwhistle congratulated the local body on providing the winner of the Governor-General's medal at Ottawa, and told his listeners that everybody in the capital city was glad to see Major Richardson annex the honor. Such an honor, said the speaker, culminated many years of hard work on ranges in different parts of Mother Earth.

Colonel Birdwhistle outlined the work of the association of which he was secretary; told of the many competitions they stage each year, both in Summer and Winter, and the interest displayed in the various meets.

In speaking the Connaught rifle ranges at Ottawa, Colonel Birdwhistle referred to them as the most picturesque in the world, even surpassing those at Bisley.

Major Walter Bapty, president of the United Services Institute of Vancouver Island, introduced the speaker; also Colonel Duff Stuart, president of the Dominion body.

Major Don Martyn, 16th Canadian Scottish Regiment, thanked Colonel Birdwhistle, on behalf of the members of the institute, for his instructive and interesting address.

Safe Crackers Fail So Call For Policemen

PETERSBOROUGH, Eng., Nov. 6.—The trouble with the British safe cracker is he is too easily discouraged.

The constable here was amazed today to receive a telephone call from the Palace motion picture theatre from a man who identified himself as a robber.

"We've been trying to blow this safe for five hours," the voice said, "and we're sick of it. You might as well come and get us."

The constable did. There were two of them.

SAANICH WILL SIGN RELIEF AGREEMENT

Certain Ratepayers Object to Allocation of Money for Unemployed

Acting Reeve H. C. Oldfield was last night instructed by members of the Saanich Council to sign the agreement with the Provincial Government whereby an appropriation of $15,000 is made from the Federal and Provincial Governments, Saanich Municipality providing a like amount.

A communication from the Department of Public Works informed the council that a body of Saanich ratepayers had protested against the spending of nearly half the available moneys on Lake Road and the B.C. Electric right-of-way on the grounds that the former was in a sufficient state of repair in view of the traffic which passed over it, while the latter was not a classified road.

The petitioners suggested that McKenzie Avenue should be opened from Douglas Street to Carey Road, and that the allowance for work on Tillicum Road should be increased.

A copy of this petition was received and filed by the council.

SOCIAL EVENING

The young people of the Esquimalt United Church were the guests of the James Bay United Young People's Society on Monday evening. Mrs. Merle Davies conducted the opening worship service, after which the meeting took the form of a Hallowe'en party. The ghost of the celebrated John Brown received a noisy reception when he introduced his severed mortal remains in the inky blackness of the basement, while the "Spooky Trail" was an initiation into the mysteries of Hallowe'en. Various other forms of entertainment were provided, Miss K. Wallace and Mr. George Kirkindale winning the printer's pi. Following this refreshments were served in the Sunday school room, and an enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Bill Johnson said
His car couldn't skid;
This monument shows
That it could—and did.

WATER SUPPLY MATTER FACES MUNICIPALITY

Saanich May Ask City to Reconsider Offer of John Dean

REPRESENTATION MADE BY BOARD OF TRADE

Saanich Council will ask further information from John Dean regarding his proposal to obtain expert advice on the question of water supply for the lower portion of the Island, and may ask the City Council to reopen the matter, which it refused to consider recently.

A committee from the Saanich Board of Trade, consisting of M. W. J. Bruce, J. Sladen, L. Bristowe and L. W. Goddard, asked the council to take the matter up with the city and to urge the city to take steps to supply part of the $500 necessary to complete, with the $1,000 already offered by Mr. Dean, the amount required for expert advice from England.

It was pointed out by the deputation that the city's objection to engaging other than a Canadian engineer to advise on the matter, might be answered by the fact that Canadian engineers were specialists in power installation, while England was the home of the most skilled engineers for the laying out of domestic and irrigation water systems.

At the suggestion of Acting Reeve Oldfield, the council will invite Mr. Dean to attend its next regular meeting and to explain the matter further.

URGE REPAIRS TO OLD NAVAL GRAVING DOCK

Minister Inspects Plant at Esquimalt and Examines Other Harbor Works

NEW PUMPING SYSTEM WOULD BE REQUIRED

Recommissioning of the old naval drydock at Esquimalt to serve as an additional asset to ship repair facilities on this coast was urged on Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine, yesterday, during an official inspection of Esquimalt Harbor, when the new drydock and other works at the harbor were examined. D. B. Plunkett, member for Victoria in the Federal House, laid this and other proposals before the minister, who said the representations would be carefully considered.

AS EMERGENCY DOCK

The original drydock at the Esquimalt basin went out of use when the new graving dock was built. The new dock, more than 1,100 feet in length, and capable of taking the largest ships afloat, has already seen considerable service, and times have occurred when the new dock was full and other ships had to be turney away. Replacement of the pumping system of the old dock, and some minor repairs, would enable that dock to be used in cases of similar emergency, it was represented.

In a careful examination of the large graving basin, Mr. Duranleau commended the excellent condition of this facility, and showed a practical interest in the details of the great power plant which electrically operates the dock.

Mr. Plunkett pointed out what had already been done in landscaping at the site of the excavations, and the opportunity existing for carrying this work to the point where it would be an outstanding feature of the public approaches to the dock.

TOUR OF HARBOR

Mr. Duranleau and his party boarded the C.G.S. Lillooet at the Inner Harbor in the morning, and were conveyed around to the dockyard jetty. Mrs. Duranleau, Miss Claire Duranleau, D. B. Plunkett, Colonel A. W. R. Wilby, marine agent here, and Mrs. Wilby, Captain H. D. Parizeau, chief hydrographer, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Laflamme were in the party.

At the drydock the Minister of Marine was met by Captain O. R. Parker, superintendent of the big graving basin, and Allen Craig, chief engineer. After a close inspection of the operating machinery and other works of the drydock, Mr. Duranleau accepted the invitation of Nodman Yarrow to inspect Yarrows, Limited, where shipbuilding and repair work have been carried on for many years on this coast.

With Mr. Yarrow, and Donald Cameron, company superintendent, the party was shown over the ship repair plant, where H.M.C.S. Vancouver is now resting, preparatory to minor repairs, and learned of the active part played by the company in construction of vessels for service in British Columbia waters.

Later the minister and his party were entertained on board the Canadian destroyer by Lieutenant-Commander G. M. Hibbard, R.C.N., and examined the old drydock soon afterward. The return to Victoria was made on the Lillooet, where the party was entertained at luncheon.

In the afternoon, Hon. Alfred Duranleau set aside the official purpose of his visit for a moment, to visit Butchart's Gardens, exclaiming at the beauty of the grounds that have long attained international standing as one of the unique sights of this province.

TO CONSIDER PROPOSALS

Commenting on his inspection of the Esquimalt dock facilities, the Minister of Marine said he had been much interested in the several matters brought to his attention, and would lay these presentations before the authorities at Ottawa for consideration.

Today the minister and his party will be the luncheon guests of Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, at Government House, while morning and afternoon hours will be set aside for affairs of business in connection with departmental matters. Mr. Duranleau will remain in Victoria until Monday, before returning East by way of Vancouver and New Westminster.

CLUBMEN HEAR REV. W. A. GUY

Speaker Tells Rotarians That Ethics of Business Must Be Changed

JUNGLE INFLUENCE BUSY

"The jungle is still in our hearts. It influences us in our daily lives and our business, and it may even be found in the Christian Church," said Rev. W. A. Guy, pastor of the Oak Bay United Church, in addressing the luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Guy, who is a past president of Swift Current and Vernon Rotary Clubs, took for his subject, "Vocational Service."

Rotary, he said, was nothing, if not ethical. It had been formed to encourage and foster service as the basis of all enterprises, and to inculcate a high standard into business methods.

"Have we a valid case?" asked the speaker. "If, as I believe, we can answer the question in the affirmative, we must bend to our task with a better understanding and infinite faith and patience.

WAVE OF PESSIMISM

"The Rotary Club has pledged itself to certain things. This pledge it must redeem. Throughout the world I find a wave of pessimism, which is directly traceable for the most part to unethical business methods.

The speaker illustrated his remark by reading a number of trenchant and searching criticisms written by great thinkers of the day.

He referred to a scene from a motion picture recently showing in Victoria in which a lion carries off an unwary wart-hog. He spoke of predatory fish which lie in wait among the weeds to pounce on the smaller fry; and referred to unethical practices among the company promoters of Wall Street.

The expression "enlightened self-interest," said the speaker, was very little removed from "unrestrained selfishness."

RULES MUST CHANGE

Just as the rules of Canadian Rugby football, hockey and baseball had been changed so must the rules of business be altered.

"It is the opinion of one type of mind," said Mr. Guy, "that this change cannot be made. I maintain that the rules of business can be changed and must be changed."

Referring to a recent address made to the club on the laying of a submarine cable, Mr. Guy drew a parallel, saying that it was the duty of Rotarians to "pay out ethical idealism."

Two excellent vocal solos were rendered by T. Dunn, who was one of the original "Dumbells." Mr. Dunn was accompanied at the piano by L. Partington.

Gas On Stomach Is Dangerous

TELLS HOW TO STOP IT

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the Heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from any reliable drug store some Bisurated Magnesia (powder or tablets) and take a little in water after each meal. Bisurated Magnesia will stop the worst gas attack quickly and without embarrassment. Taken right after eating, it prevents formation of gas and acids so there is no sourness, bloating or pain. Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bisurated Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist. Try it today.

Lord and Lady Stonehaven See Disabled Veterans Making Armistice Day Poppies

Lord Stonehaven, former Governor-General of Australia, accompanied by Lady Stonehaven and daughters, were escorted to the Red Cross Workshop yesterday afternoon by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor.

Their Excellencies arrived in Victoria earlier in the day and the visit to the Red Cross Shop was the first action of the distinguished visitors.

A considerable time was spent inspecting the work made by disabled veterans and watching the finishing touches being put to poppies and wreaths which will find their places on the Cenotaph next week.

His Excellency expressed his pleasure with what the Red Cross Workshop was doing to improve the lot of veterans whose earning powers were limited through service rendered to the Empire.

Immediately after leaving the Red Cross Workshop a call was made at the Armistice Period Red Cross campaign headquarters, where the visitors were received by Sir Richard Lake, K.C.M.G., and Mr. Fred Landsberg.

Both Lord and Lady Stonehaven were deeply impressed with the interest which citizens of Victoria are taking in veterans' problems and wished the committee every success in its effort to raise an adequate fund for veterans' relief.

GREAT BRITAIN'S CONSERVATIVE POLICY

Mr. Stanley Baldwin has written a letter to the chairman of the Conservative Party organization outlining the policies he has in view. They include: (1) Economy; (2) Reduction of Taxation; (3) Reform of unemployment insurance; (4) An emergency tariff (5) Guaranteed prices for wheat; (6) A tax on foreign malted barley; (7) Prevention of dumping of oats and other produce; (8) A definite market for home-grown and Empire wheat; (9) Empire economic unity.

In his allusion to unemployment insurance Mr. Baldwin points to the necessity of drastic reform, because the administration of the system has become a "crying scandal." He says the Insurance Fund has been brought to bankruptcy, and that money is being borrowed from the Exchequer which will probably never be repaid. In addition, "the youth of the country is being rapidly demoralized by the relaxation of conditions properly attached to what was intended to be a true insurance scheme.

The Conservatives are now definitely committed to an emergency tariff, in addition to safeguarding. What is proposed is explained by Mr. Baldwin as duties on manufactured goods, which will preserve the home market, and also there are to be investigations and negotiations with other countries, "incidental to the preparation of a more scientific scheme." It is believed that such steps are urgent if the advance of unemployment is to be stemmed and if hope and confidence are to be restored to both employers and workers.

On the question of Empire economic unity Mr. Baldwin is explicit. While awaiting the findings of the Imperial Conference he says the Conservatives accept the principle of Imperial Preference and are prepared to extend its scope to the utmost limit. Moreover, in this, as in other particulars, it is Mr. Baldwin's intention at the next general election "to go to the polls with a programme to which the electors will be asked to give their final and definite assent." The preference plan is to be worked out in connection with each article, which will be examined on its merits in co-operation with the Dominions concerned. "and the remedy to be adopted should be the one which, after investigation, seems best adapted to further our common aim."

THE RETIRING AGENT-GENERAL

No political party strengthens its cause by innuendos or criticism founded on falsity. The Liberals of British Columbia have unfortunately endeavored to create the impression that Mr. F. A. Pauline, the Agent-General in London, is retiring from the Government service under pressure. This is diametrically opposed to the facts of the situation. Mr. Pauline resigned voluntarily and without any suggestion whatever from the local authorities.

The Agent-General some time ago wrote to Premier Tolmie asking that the Government would arrange for his retirement. He pointed out that he was nearing seventy years of age, that he had been for over six years in the London post, that he believed he had been successful in building up cordial relationships for British Columbia in the Empire's capital and that he felt he had earned a rest in the evening of his life.

In reply to this letter Premier Tolmie acceded to the request and did so in cordial terms, no doubt complimenting Mr. Pauline on his able administration of the office. This reply was suitably acknowledged by the Agent-General who thanked the Premier for the manner in which, he had worded his acquiescence in the request.

These are the facts of the situation. The appointment of a successor to Mr. Pauline did not become one of the considerations of the Government until the Agent-General, of his own volition, had expressed the desire to retire. Then, after the matter had been arranged to the entire satisfaction of Mr. Pauline, the appointment of Mr. Barden took place. The latter will take up the duties early in the new year. His knowledge of British Columbia fits him admirably for the post so ably held for upwards of six years by Mr. Pauline who in his retirement intends to live in Victoria.

ST. LAWRENCE PROPAGANDA

Propaganda has been intensified to bring about the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway developments. Under the late Liberal Government the conception obtained that this project should be undertaken jointly by the United States and Canada and that joint control should be exercised. Under the present Government no statement of policy has been made, but there is a belief that the developments should be devised for Canadian purposes, paid for with Canadian moneys and that the added traffic facilities should be completely under Canadian control.

An official report has just been issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics showing that purely Canadian traffic on the St. Lawrence canals fell from 6,139,402 tons in 1928 to 4,122,533 tons in 1929. This decline was due in some respect to fewer wheat shipments. At present the existing waterway is not being used to 50 per cent of its capacity. The question arises if it is desirable, from an economic standpoint, to expend some $300,000,000 to provide a new system of inland canals. Those favoring the St. Lawrence development do so mainly from the standpoint of the new water power that could be developed. That is the American contention. Industrial undertakings on the American side need the power. They want Canada to assist them in obtaining it by shouldering a large proportion of the cost.

From the Canadian viewpoint St. Lawrence development would be only desirable, for the time being, for promoting added facilities for traffic. In estimating the desirability, therefore, it is necessary to consider the project from the traffic standpoint. If $300,000,000 were expended the annual interest and upkeep charges would be $18,000,000. If last year's traffic were not exceeded this would mean a public contribution of $3.15 per ton. Supposing all the traffic were in wheat, this would work out at 10.5 cents a bushel. On this basis the project can hardly be regarded as an economic necessity. The facts are that there is an efficient and adequate system of inland waterways to look after the present traffic, and, indeed, twice as much. There is not, at this time, any urgent need for greater water transportation facilities on the St. Lawrence. The grandiose project, regarded so favorably by the Americans, can very well be left until times are better and until traffic demands are increasing by leaps and bounds. Any project of this magnitude must be regarded from the economic standpoint. It is not an economic necessity at present and will not be for many years to come.

AUSTRALIA'S NAVY

Australia has embarked on a policy of naval retrenchment under the Scullin Labor Administration, and perhaps as a gesture of faith in the attitude of the MacDonald Labor Government of Great Britain, which believes in naval attrition. As well, however, as subscribing to a weakened national security the Australian Government's plans in naval affairs afford a confession that, in hard times, the financial burden cannot be borne. In other words, a conception has arisen that national security is dependent on a flourishing commerce and a buoyant revenue. "We depend," says The Melbourne Australasian, "upon the hope that no danger will arise unless we are well enough off to meet it. Otherwise our national safety in our own waters depends, as it did before 1910, upon the naval power of Great Britain."

Possibly no greater boon could come to smokers than the introduction of nicotine-free tobacco, for it is nicotine that is responsible for deleterious effects there are in the use of the weed. The Tobacco Research Institute of Forchleim has discovered that tobacco can be grown free of nicotine and it has made this discovery after investigating 150,000 tobacco plants brought from all over the world. It is a question of special cultivation and fertilization, of close planting and regulated waterings. Tobacco is sometimes rendered free of nicotine by chemical process, but the plant cultivated to acquire freedom is said to be superior in taste and smell.

Under the British Labor Government's rapprochement with Soviet Russia the Royal Navy has been forced into a course of action which must have gone sorely against the grain of its personnel. The story is told of how squadrons of the British and Russian Navies met in a Greek harbor and how, because of the requirements of international courtesy, the band on H.M.S. Queen Elizabeth played the Internationale while the Soviet Flag was flown. This is the song of revolution, which must have sounded strange coming from a British warship, but then, under a Labor administration, strange bedfellows are brought into the international fold.

The spread of paternal legislation indicates how far so many countries are departing from the first principles of political economy as enunciated by Adam Smith when he wrote: "The most effectual plan for advancing a people to greatness is to maintain that order of things which Nature has pointed out by allowing every man, as long as he observes the rules of justice, to pursue his own interests in his own way and to bring both his industry and his capital into the freest competition with those of his fellow citizens."

MR. HOOVER'S PROBLEMS

(Mr. Hoover, who objects to those "doles" of various kinds which "limit the independence of men," is content to encourage his people with such arguments as that the United States could, if she would, "lead the world in recovery.") Still, the issue between State responsibility in some sense for the unemployed and a completely individualized system of industry in which the devil is free to take the hindmost, will be presented clearly before long if the depression continues. Mr. Hoover has dealt out a nice syrup for the cure of the depression, a medicine to which neither allopath nor homoeopath can actively object, but which does not create any confidence. Efforts towards economic recovery by means of autosuggestion—a kind of Couéism—are the metier of certain business houses with their spate of curious exhorting tracts; but the nation has been asking for something different from the President, and whether the President be wise in his generation or not, the nation so far has not got it.—The London Spectator.

You meet the greatest gentlemen where you least expect. A gentleman is a gentleman no matter what he is. It is not in the birth of the man, but what is in his mind. So long as a man does what is right in any walk of life, sport or otherwise, then that man is a good man—and a gentleman.—Lord Lonsdale.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

So sleeps the pride of former days,
So glory's thrill is o'er,
And hearts that once beat high for praise,
Now feel that pulse no more!
—Moore.

Strange, but probably not unnatural, are the effects of early experiences upon the hearts and lives of most of us. One of our first experiences in Canada made us exceedingly bitter against all those people who attempt to exploit the misfortunes and sufferings of others for their own personal profit. We have had our ups and downs in this country, but have never suffered actual privation. In that respect at least we have been fortunate. In another respect we have been unfortunate. It was our misfortune shortly after we arrived in Canada and earned our first five dollars to be the callow victim of a charitable appeal. We lent that first five dollars of hard-earned money to an imposter under promise that the money would be returned on the day after it was borrowed. We have never seen the imposter since.

We have had a considerable number of experiences of a similar kind, with the result that our heart has become hardened and our mind sceptical, and we cannot help but regard with suspicion nearly all appeals for charitable or philanthropic purposes. We have even had a suspicion that some tag days are not invariably held for purposes altogether worthy; and we have said so and declined to write a word in support of them. That is not an enviable state of mind, but it is a state of mind which is the logical and inevitable result of our personal experiences.

Fortunately for many good causes, the experiences of others have been quite different. The early experiences of Fred Landsberg were altogether different. Mr. Landsberg suffered many tribulations and privations in a country which was not so highly favored as Canada, and those experiences have softened his heart and made him exceedingly sympathetic with all afflicted and unfortunate persons. In fact, Mr. Landsberg is so active in the cause of all who have met with misfortune that he appears to have given up all attention to his own business and is devoting all his time and energy to the business of others. How he manages to do that we do not know, and besides, it is none of our business.

Any man who is so busy and so disinterested we should obviously be delighted to meet: but we do not like to meet Mr. Landsberg. As a matter of fact, we make it our business to dodge him whenever we can within the limits of our waning physical capacity. We duck and dodge, then, whenever we see the local philanthropist on the streets, not because he is a bore, and therefore to be avoided like a plague, but because he is always engaged in the prosecution of some worthy cause and will be almost sure to ask us to write something on behalf of that cause.

We usually manage to keep out of the path of that good and worthy man, but he caught us coming around the corner the other morning, seized us and held on. From his pocket he produced a number of letters portraying pitiful cases of suffering and privation amongst wives and children of victims of the war which would have moved the heart of the most callous and hardened person. This is Red Cross and Armistice Period Week, when funds are being collected which will be devoted entirely for the relief of returned men—many of whose disabilities did not develop until long after they had been discharged from the army—and their dependent wives and children.

We said then, as we have indicated before, that we were loth to make our special department of The Colonist a begging department. Most people regard with repugnance continuous appeals to their generosity and persistent assaults upon their purses. But the Red Cross and Armistice Period appeal is quite different from ordinary requests and tag days. There is no doubt that actual suffering and privation exists, and that something must be done to relieve cases which cannot be relieved through the agency of the Government Pension Board. That is why we have yielded to the spell of Mr. Landsberg's persuasive eloquence and the deeper appeal of the contents of the letters he compelled us to read and have devoted so much space to the cause of the disabled returned men and their dependents.

If any of our readers are as sceptical as we are naturally inclined to be, we trust Mr. Landsberg may pounce upon them, too, and compel them to read some of the letters containing really pathetic appeals of the wives of veterans to their generosity.

The Premiers of the Dominions have been made freemen of the City of London, and the Premier of Canada has been made a freeman of the City of Sheffield. In connection with the proposal to make Mr. Bennett a freeman of the ancient city of cutlery an interesting story is told. When the proposal was suggested to the council of Sheffield, a member arose in his place and protested. He wanted to know who this man Bennett was, for he had never heard of him—which indicates the interest taken by members of the British Socialist party in the affairs of the Empire.

DAME MELBA AND RED CROSS

Sir,—On the eve of Armistice Day and also when the Red Cross is so much in need of funds, Madame Nellie Melba, that glorious "Queen of Song," is lying critically ill, and her countless friends the world over wait anxiously for news.

As we think of the long, dark days of the Great War, it is surly right that we should remember how Madame Melba's heart went out to Great Britain in her hour of need.

May I quote a few words, so modestly expressed, from her delightful book, "Melodies and Memories," which is in our Victoria Library? They are as follows:

"Let me just add, not in any boastful spirit, but as a means of thanking those who helped me, that I made through the war over £100,000, which I was enabled to hand to the Red Cross as a slight tribute from one who cared."

LUCY PRESCOTT JACKSON.
1025 Mason Street, Victoria, B.C., November 5, 1930.

FOGS AND AVIATION

Sir,—As the fate of Captain Burke, crew and plane is still very precarious, it is natural that the public should desire information regarding the efficiency of the kind of machine he was working. Lately, I saw him make several ineffectual attempts to raise his plane from Lake Atlin, but the pontoons looked too heavy, and his craft lacked the lifting power to rise. Whenever he managed to get away and shape a course at a fair altitude, he left us the anxious problem whether we would ever see him again. His return to Atlin had been overdue for several days before other planes were engaged to try to rescue him.

I beg to submit the advisability of employing more prudence in contending against the treacherous air currents and fog which prevail at this time of year in Northern British Columbia.

WILLIAM C. HATHORN.
Glenshiel Hotel, Victoria, B.C., November 5, 1930.

SAANICH DEVELOPMENT

Sir,—Our people have been shown in years past the possibilities of developments in Saanich Peninsula. One way is bulb cultivation. It may be recalled that a few years ago an expert was brought from south of the line with the purpose of getting his opinion on what developments should be undertaken.

To my mind a requisite is an irrigation project. This should be borne in mind at this time when there is so much unemployment in our midst. Work of this character ought to come under the heading of "national importance" since it would mean a great increase in production. As such it should be entitled to receive financial assistance from both the Federal and Provincial Governments.

Unquestionably the development of the Saanich Peninsula would mean a great impetus to the industrial and business life of this city and district. That is where the public funds could be spent on constructive work for public development. It would be far, far better to do this than to spend money at a cordwood camp. I hope by this time that the City Council is fully awakened to the gravity of the unemployment problem. It should be dealt with in a constructive way and one method would be development work in the Saanich Peninsula.

WALTER INWARD.

PROFIT IN WHEAT

Sir,—The mind of the public has, in recent weeks, been considerably agitated by the apparent lack of relationship between the market price of wheat and the retail price of bread. Also a large proportion of the thinking public is at present greatly concerned as to what is to be the economic future of Canada unless a more profitable market can be found for the cereal products of this country.

Apparently one trouble with the Wheat Pool is that it is taking its wheat and other cereals to the wrong market. Instead of selling its products for the highest possible price it is disposing of them at the lowest. And all that is required to reverse this situation is an idea, a pasteboard package and a little printer's ink.

Let us take a walk through the grocery stores of any city in Canada, the United States, or of any of the so-called civilized countries of the world. There we shall find ourselves confronted by an amazing variety of the products of wheat, of oats, of barley, and other cereals, daintily disguised in attractive packages and selling in enormous quantities at the most astounding prices.

We will purchase, for example, just a few of the most popular brands of these delectable breakfast foods and take them home and weigh them, and then compare the prices which the public willingly pays for them with the present unwilling market prices of the cereals from which they are made.

At today's market price, wheat is fetching approximattely $23 per ton, oats $17 per ton, and barley $10 per ton.

Now let us see what these same cereals retail for per ton when they have been processed by an idea, a pasteboard package and a little printer's ink.

Puffed wheat, $1,120 per ton; Post Toasties, $640 per ton; Grape-Nuts, $400 per ton; Shredded Wheat, $320 per ton; Wheat Flakes, $265 per ton; Rolled Oats, $185 per ton.

Here is a source of increment of such astounding possibility as to be almost incredible to the ordinary mind. In fact so incredible as to make one almost believe that the elementary laws of mathematics as laid down to us in our schooldays must be fundamentally wrong.

If the Pool could sell only 50 per cent of its crop, for only one-half of these prices, I venture to say that it would have solved the problem of the future of prosperity of the farmers of Canada forever.

And I earnestly commend these facts to the attention of the directors of the Pool for their serious consideration.

H. A. BOWDEN.

ARMISTICE MEMORIES

Sir,—I certainly do not wish to start a controversy by this letter, so, Mr. Editor, please do not publish it if you think there is any likelihood of my doing so.

I am honestly puzzled to know why this country, or any other country that has engaged in the world war, should set aside November 11 as a day of sorrow.

To those who made the supreme sacrifice in the four years of horror, do we not owe a debt of everlasting gratitude? Can gratitude be expressed by sorrow? Sorrow and depression travel hand in hand. Depression will not help the living. Human nature must be considered; its sure reaction to joy is generosity. In a spirit of thankfulness and rejoicing it is natural to give. Sorrow will die with the generation affected, joy can live forever.

If Good Friday had been the only celebrated day of the Christian religion I venture to say that Christianity would never have fulfilled its destiny. Easter and Christmas express salvation, peace and good will, with jubilation acceptable and understandable to normal minded men and women from one generation to another. These two days will always be symbolic of what our Lord's sacrifice meant to the world. Good Friday will be observed forever.

This brings us to a very definite consideration. If we attempt to pass to posterity one outstanding day of sorrowful remembrance, as their only inheritance from the Great War, the observance of this day will become more and more difficult as time goes on, and eventually it will pass into oblivion meaning nothing to anybody.

Time heals all sorrows; their protraction beyond a generation is impossible. Let us think seriously what this means, the passing of a general day of commemoration for the Great War. The war will be concisely recorded in history books, but to coming generations it will be of no more interest, and have no more influence, than the other wars of history.

For those who have suffered through the greatest calamity that has ever happened this must be a distressing thought.

The widest difference of opinion may exist as to the outcome of the war. Was the world saved for democracy? Do we want democracy? Were sacrifices made in vain? At one time we had one rooted opinion that the fight was for humanity, that the successful end must bring thanksgiving.

In joy we can all celebrate November 11. The man who believes the war was a means to a successful end accomplished; the pacifist who saw world peace restored; the skeptic who saw nothing but futility in the world disaster, and on November 11, 1918, could only acknowledge a universal return to sanity.

Armistice Day was the end of calamity. If we allow it to be forgotten in sorrow, because of the calamity itself, we are endangering future generations who may again follow the red path of 1914. Let us rather rejoice at the world's salvation, rejoice in thankfulness to those who gave all, believing.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

SONGS UNSUNG

When the night wind, blowing down from starry places,
Tells strange stories to the lilies,
white and tall,
Something touched with the dim splendor of far places
Holds me silent and enraptured
in its thrall.
Luring voices of wistful dreams,
Pure and fresh as mountain streams
In whose death a mirrored star
Leads where ocean sings afar.
I have heard it on the South Seas'
lonely reaches,
Welling up from places of porphyry,
Where great neptune's daughters
sing on sunken beaches
And the sea god croons again his melody.
Luring voice of song unsung,
With sweet words in sequence
strung,
Fair as pearls that found their rest
On frail Helen's fairer breast.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of November 7, 1880)

The new steamer Peerless, built at Kamloops, made a successful trial trip the other day. She is a very powerful and staunch boat, and her owners hope that she will be able to navigate the Thompson River as far down as Spence's Bridge.

The steamer Gertrude, with about thirty passengers on board, and the steamer Grappler, with probably forty more, are both overdue at Fort Wrangell. The Gertrude has most likely been detained by rough weather and stoppage for fuel.

A football match was played yesterday at Beacon Hill between the Collegiate and High Schools, resulting in an easy victory for the former, they having scored three "touch-downs" to their opponents' nothing.

The attention of our readers is directed to the venture of the White House, local retailers, in proposing to issue a monthly journal and deliver it, postpaid, all over the province free. They hope for a large circulation and expect to make money by it.

Further Split Between Moslems and Hindus On Indian Parley Demands

By CARROLL BINDER
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The mercurial Indian situation has completely changed as a result of a further split between the Moslems and Hindus. The earlier and tentative understanding whereby they would make a united demand for Dominion status at the opening of the round table conference has been disrupted.

Communal jealousies, which the British have always insisted necessitated their presence in India as an an arbiter, are surging anew.

COMMUNAL INTERESTS

The Hindu leader, Moonje, demands that the Moslems join the Hindus in a Dominion demand, with private assurances that their communal interests will be safeguarded by the Hindu majority at subsequent purely Indian discussions regarding the relative powers of the provinces and the Federal Government.

The Moslem leader, M. A. Jinnah, insists that the Hindus accept the Moslem fourteen-point autonomy safeguard before they will concur in the Dominion demand. M. Moonje, appreciating that the British Government is unable to make a Dominion pledge without parliamentary sanction, even if it is desirous of doing so, is unwilling to sacrifice Hindu interests to Moslem with so little assurance of home rule resulting.

CONCILIATORY MEETINGS

Conciliatory meetings are still under way, but it looks as though British Indian officialdom with Moslem aid would be able to block the Hindu fight for a strong Central Government. All Indians are still nationalistic and insistent upon a large measure of native control, but the big news today is that the two great factions are once more divided over the amount of power they are willing to repose in the Central Government.

If that division persists, the British will have grounds for remaining in control of a partially liberated India in order to safeguard the Moslem and other minorities against the dominance of a Hindu majority.

Belching
. . . Gas on the Stomach embarrassing and disgusting

"I'll never ask him to dinner again"

PARTIES never seemed to lag when Kennedy was one of the guests, but in spite of his charm he spent many wintry evenings alone.

For Kennedy was a victim of gas discomfort. When dinner ended Kennedy's good time ended. When food came, gas came and with it embarrassment to him and to his hostess.

He had tried practically everything when he heard about Tanlac. Soon after he started to take it gas disappeared. Pain and discomfort ceased. He slept soundly once more. He could eat everything and anything.

If you are troubled with gas, if you are nervous, without appetite, tired and rundown and cannot sleep, you need Tanlac. For 20 years, Tanlac has brought relief to the millions of men and women suffering with belching, gas, pain after eating, loss of appetite and other digestive troubles. You, too, can trust this pure, good remedy—made from nature's own roots, barks and herbs. Get a bottle of this marvellous medicine at your druggist's today—your money will be promptly refunded if you are not satisfied.

CITY OFFICIALS OF VANCOUVER SEEK MORE AID

Metropolitan Terminus of Rail and Water Flooded by Transient Jobless

WANT INSTITUTION OF DIRECT RELIEF

Stressing the fact that Vancouver's status as the largest city in Western Canada was attracting an undue share of unemployed, drifting in from other parts of the province and notably from Prairie points, a delegation of Mainland city officials waited on the Government yesterday to discuss relief measures. The delegation was received by the special unemployment committee of the Cabinet, headed by Hon. W. A. McKenzie, chairman. Mayor W. H. Malkin acted as spokesman.

Summarized, the requests of the delegation were for a grant of $30,000, in assistance towards sums spent on relief between August 1 and October 1 last; assurance of Federal and Provincial Government aid in the cost of direct relief, in the proportion of one-third each; additional provincial work in the Fraser Valley by way of land clearing, to draw off some of the unemployed congregating in the city of Vancouver; additional sums towards emergency work, concurrent on the ratification of the city's share of the cost on by-laws soon to go to the people.

The delegation asked, in particular, that immediate steps be taken to institute that portion of the Federal scheme providing for direct relief, where necessary. Vancouver City, it was represented, had half the population of the province, and was in this instance caring for many nonresident unemployed who drifted, to the Coast on account of its mild climate, and the hope of work.

TO COST MILLION

Quoting figures in support of the requests, Mayor Malkin said approximately 7,168 married and single men were registered with the city as unemployed. About 2,561 married men and 2,000 single men would, it was estimated, require assistance in one form or another. The estimated cost of providing this assistance between this date and May next was considered likely to be $1,059,000, in addition to what had already been done in preceding months of this year. Joint Federal and provincial assistance towards relief amounting to $700,000 might be required, he said.

Alderman Atherton supported these contentions, and gave additional figures. T. G. Kirk, M.P.P., told of abnormal increases in the number of unemployed who had drifted into Vancouver in the last thirty days, despite Prairie advertising by the city against such influx. British Columbia, emphasized Mr. Kirk, was carrying much of the responsibility for the three Western provinces.

Alderman A. McGinnis suggested a survey of the province would show Vancouver entitled to seven-twelfths of any aid possible in relief measures. A written communication from Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., was also read.

MUCH ALREADY DONE

In answering Mayor Malkin, Hon. W. A. McKenzie stated Vancouver City had asked for $290,200 from the two Governments combined towards work to cost $580,400, and had got it. The city had also received $100,000 in special recognition of sums expended prior to the institution of the Federal plan. In addition, the Government had carried on such other work in the area as was possible, regarding all the circumstances.

The sum of $900,000 had been alloted to British Columbia for all programmes of work, out of Federal funds, said Hon. R. W. Bruhn. The sum of $4,000,000 had been set aside by Ottawa to cover direct relief throughout all Canada, but no definite proportion of this sum had been alloted to any province. Negotiations, he said, were still being carried on to see what British Columbia might expect in regard to direct relief aid from the Federal fund.

The Government was fully apprised of the situation, stated Hon. N. S. Lougheed, who sat in with the committee. Careful surveys of the exact state of employment had been taken in every centre, and checked over a number of times. Vancouver figures were not a surprise, for the condition there had been foreseen, and action to bring help to bear in every section of the province was very carefully under consideration. He would suggest, he said, that Vancouver endeavor to curb its requirements by not asking for too much at once, but only such sums as would permit of taking care of immediate needs in this regard.

As chairman of the committee, Mr. McKenzie said the Government had a grave responsibility in caring for every section of the province, and had gone to great pains to see that each case was dealt with fairly on its merits. The Vancouver representation would be considered in the same light, he said, thanking the delegation, which retired after a courteous hearing.

The other soloist on the programme, George Tait, also gave great pleasure, and at the close of the evening, the conductor, Joseph Maguire, and his choir, were given a clamorous expression of appreciation by the throng of friends who had come to hear this recently-organized musical ensemble on the occasion of its premier performance.

FIGURES FOR SALMON CATCH GROW GREATER

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—British Columbia's 1930 salmon pack continues to soar above all previous figures on record.

Last Saturday's pack had reached the total of 2,139,361 cases, of which 463,867 cases were sockeye and 1,090,827 cases were pinks.

Had this year's catch of chums equaled the 1926 pack of that variety, the 1930 record would be nearly 500,000 cases greater than that of 1926.

Just Roami'n Around

BY TWO ROVERS

Clover Point is a most historic and beautiful spot, between Ross Bay and Findlayson Point of the Beacon Hill foreshore. It is due for a change from being a rifle range to becoming—just what I don't know.

"Let's roam around there, this afternoon, Rover, and look into this and see what the Beautification Committee proposes to do to improve the site of all the 'buts' in the vocabulary of our coast-line, Victoria-abouts." Here Rover shot an assent at me.

We had heard that the transfer is all but made, so we "rifled" a neighbor's apple orchard, en route, and marched with our "core" to the old battleground of "Disarmament-of-the-range-by-arrangement-with-the-Dominion-Government"; which "at present" controls the field of action at Clover Point.

Rover, being a good pointer, led the way first of all to an appointment we had made with Major W. H. Lettice, one of the Old Guard, a former member of the Victoria Rifles. Hence this little story, which he "let us" tell:

As we entered the "orderly room" of his place of business, he asked us if we represented the "Bonds of Discipline," and then he gave us a most brotherly-in-arms reception.

In 1862, Clover Point became a rifle range, and was used, first of all, by the B.C. Battery of Garrison Artillery; and also by the old Victoria Rifles, who were disbanded in 1890. It was later used by the Fifth Regiment, and silver spoons were given as prizes for the best shots at the range, every week. Charlie Bloomfield, although, unfortunately, he only had the sight of one eye, won so many of these marks of good-marksmanship that he could have served tea for the dozens of his lady-friends at once, and have given each one a souvenir tea-spoon to taken home with her.

Clover Point continued to be the nursery of all our crack riflemen here up to the time of the Great War, ever inviting bullets to find their billets; then it became a training ground for recruits in musketry and trench digging, etc.

Some of the many names to be ever associated with the history of Clover Point are: The late Robert Butler, Mr. Cox, Colonel Wolfenden, of Wimbledon fame; Lieut.-Col. Chester Harris, Arthur Langley, the Henley Brothers, the Brothers Newbury, Sergeant-Majors Macdougall and Cavan, Major Fred B. Richardson, of Bisley renown, and last, but not least, Major W. H. Lettice (to whom many thanks from the Two Rovers).

General Sir Arthur Currie was one of the most enthusiastic encouragers of rifle and big gun practice at Clover Point. The Fifth Regiment is famous for many things, and, one is that it produced more first-class rifle shots than any other corps in Canada, and all were trained at Clover Point. Also, in the early days, the Fifth's 64-pounders used to fire at a barrel on Clover Point, from a spot on Finlayson Point. Evidently barrels were more easily obtained then than in these dry days of roamin' around!

And now the old range passes into the limbo of things gone-by; but it will never be forgotten by The Boys of the Old Brigade!

Not much room left for our kick! We have none at "the transfer to the city," we are only too pleased at that; but, we would wish that every bullet that was fired at the old targets at Clover Point, were each a dollar bill to fly to the pockets of those who are not "in clover," these harder-than-usual times. That's our "point" for today, and we hope you are not disappointed.

When the transfer, to the city,
Of Clover Point, is made,
Then, make it garden-pretty—
A beauteous promenade;
And, set there a memorial, high,
To all the boys, who shot
At targets there, in days gone by;
May their names be ne'er forgot!

LADNER FARMER WINS HONORS FOR PLOWING

Courtenay Man Is Fifth in Big Competition for Provincial Championship

LADNER, Nov. 6.—Thousands attending the first provincial plowing match at Ladner, Wednesday, decided that the spirit of the old County of Bruce, Ontario, was the dominant feature of this big day in farm history in British Columbia.

Richard A. Coleman, of Ladner, many times champion of Valley plowing tests, native son of Bruce, won top place in the main event of the day. Turning a straight, perfect furrow in the flat rich Delta soil, Coleman did not look back until he had won the first prize in the class open to all comers.

Jack Reid, of Courtenay, was placed fifth in this event. Reid was accompanied by Jack Murray and Pat Whelan from Courtenay, but outside of Reid the winners of the Comox Valley contests did not compete successfully here.

On the anvil of Alex. Ross, a famous Bruce County blacksmith, long since dead, the plow which Coleman used had been shaped. Though it was manufactured by a machinery firm, Ross had shaped its mold board, had set the angle of its beam. Thirty years ago another Alex. Ross plow had cut a furrow to a plowman's championship at Victoria.

LOCAL FARM RECEIVES ORDER FROM ALBERTA FOR CROSS-BRED FOXES

An order was received yesterday by a local fox farm from the Emma Silver Black Fox Company of Alberta for five pairs of cross-bred foxes which will be shipped in the course of a few days. Owing to the steady increase in price in cross fox fur, the breeding of this type of animal is taken up by a number of fox farmers.

In a circular letter from a Seattle fur house they emphasize and endeavor to induce fox farmers to breed cross foxes, the breeding of which has been greatly neglected by fur farmers and is now almost extinct in the wild.

Chemainus Chapter

A meeting of the Porter Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held on the afternoon of Tuesday, in the classroom of the Calvary Baptist Church. There were thirteen members present, the regent, Mrs. J. Russell Robinson, in the chair. An appeal for bedding, from the Peace River district, was received, and one bed comforter will be sent and more if possible. The question of raising funds for the chapter was brought up and it was decided to hold a sale of home cooking on November 14, if Mr. Gatus, manager of the V.L. & M. Co.'s store, would spare the chapter a counter on that date. A card party will also be held, at the home of Mrs. Russell Robinson, on November 21, when earthquake whist will be played. Arrangements were made to make a wreath for the War Memorial for Armistice Day, Mrs. L. G. Hill and Mrs. J. Russell Robinson offering to make it, the large poppies to be procured from the Cowichan Legion. The Cowichan Legion wrote asking the Porter Chapter to place the legion's wreath on the Chemainus War Memorial. Mrs. A. Porter, vice-regent, was appointed to attend to this for the legion. The wheel chair which the chapter is presenting to the hospital having arrived, it was decided to present it "For services rendered, by the oldest member in the chapter, Mrs. Ward." Tea hostesses for the afternoon were, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Smiley. The following members were present: Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. A. Porter, Mrs. Southin, Mrs. Mather, Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. Knight, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. L. G. Hill, Mrs. A. Work, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Wyllie, Miss E. White and Mrs. Wynne.

Members were requested to bring gifts of toys and books to the next meeting, Wednesday, December 3, when they will be enclosed in the Christmas hamper for the children in the Peace River district. The thanks of the members were conveyed to Captain F. H. Walter, who had kindly presented to the chapter a relic of the old ship H.M.S. Ganges, recently broken up in the London docks. The memento took the form of the back board from the stern sheets of the captain's galley and was of polished oak with gilt lettering. Arrangements are being made to place the gift in some prominent place at Ganges and enclose it in a glass case. At the close of the meeting tea was provided by Mrs. V. C. Best and Mrs. Frank Crofton.

The bride's costume was of Alice blue Canton crepe with beige trimmings, and a chic blue hat. She carried a bouquet of roses and carnations. She was attended by Miss Dorothy Louise Scott, Transit Road, who was gowned in yellow and mauve. The groom was supported by Mr. Harry Hawkes, the brother-in-law of the bride.

ST. JOSEPH'S W.A. HAS ANNUAL SALE

St. Joseph's Hospital W.A. held its annual bazaar yesterday afternoon at the Nurses' Home, the big reception hall being attractively arranged with cleverly constructed stalls. Mrs. Frank Sehl was general convener. Mrs. M. E. Jones and Miss Norma Jones were at the fancywork stall, which was decorated with colored paper in pastel shades and contained many tempting wares; Mrs. Cusack and Mrs. Clark were at the popular cables' wear stall; Mrs. MacLaughlin and Mrs. G. S. Henderson and Miss Lizzie Whiteside sold homemade dainties, and novelties of all sorts were in charge of Mrs. Lehman and Mrs. Nicholson. Mrs. McDermott had charge of the beautifully dressed doll and Mrs. Hardiman was convener of the cake guessing contest. Members of the Junior Auxiliary sold home-made candy, and also had charge of the baby's hope chest, the plant stall and Christmas cards. Tea was served in the living-room, which was particularly cosy with its cheery fireplace and prettily arranged tea tables. Mrs. Percy Criddle and Mrs. Vernon Thomson were conveners and were assisted by other members of the auxiliary.

"I don't have to," explains that charming film star, Myrna Loy. "Before going on the lot or out for the evening, I make up my lips with Kissproof. Then I know they will look their best—and keep looking their best—all day or evening." Miss Loy is but one of many Hollywood stars who use Kissproof—the natural, lasting lipstick. MANY CLASS B PROS GIVEN BACK AMATEUR CARDS

Wing Hay and Neel Battle to Draw in Wild Slugging Bee

Third Meeting Fails to Settle Argument as to Who Is Better Boy—Tim Keist Shades Tommy Drysdale—Pastroe and Shouldice Fight to Draw

Wing Hay and Frankie Neel failed to settle their argument as to who is the best boy, when they met for a third time in one of the dual main events of the boxing card presented by Promoter Joe Bayley at the Variety Theatre last night. Fighting over six rounds the pair engaged in a furious set-to, and Referee Dave Lewis called the fracas a draw, which was popular with the crowd. In the other main event Tim Keist won a close decision over Tommy Drysdale in another battering six-round engagement. About 400 fans attended the show.

Premier Tolmie and Attorney-General R. H. Pooley were interested spectators.

Last night's show was a thriller from the first bout to the last. Seldom, if ever, in local boxing circles has so much action been crowded into fights. In all events, the boys mixed furiously and kept the crowd on edge throughout.

SLUGGING BEE

The Hay-Neel fracas was a regular slugging bee throughout. Hay appeared to be the cleaner puncher and his blows seemed to carry more power, but Neel fought like a tiger, and when he looked bad came back strongly. Fighting at 125 pounds, the boys went at it hammer and tongs from the opening gong to the last and there was never a dull moment in the six sessions.

Hay had a slight edge in the opening round, but Neel took the second when he rocked the fighting Chinaman with a hard right to the jaw. The third was about even, with both boys fighting like wildcats. The fourth and fifth sessions provided action galore, with Hay appearing to have a slight edge in the latter round. The last round was a slugfest the whole route, with Neel staging a great rally, which, no doubt, gained him a draw. Both boys were about ready to drop when the final gong sounded.

A CLOSE DECISION

Keist's decision over Drysdale was very close and a draw might have been a better verdict. The gladiators tore at each other in a frenzied fashion, and crowded each other at all times.

The opening round was even, with each fighter landing some clean blows to the body and face. Keist had quite a margin in the second round, and played for the body mostly. Drysdale took the third round by a shade, rocking Keist once with a lightning right to the jaw. The fourth round was even-Stephen, both fighters landing some telling blows. The fifth was also even, each boy mixing furiously throughout.

In the sixth Keist made Drysdale miss lots of times and got home some good blows to the face. Drysdale also landed frequently, but Keist's punches were the cleaner.

BATTLE TO DRAW

The popular Danny Pastroe and his elongated opponent, Wilfred Shouldice, went four fast rounds to a draw. Pastroe, the aggressor, gained a distinct margin in the first two rounds, but Shouldice won the last two. It was a wild slugging duel, with Pastroe's wild tactics delighting the fans. The boys mixed at 135 pounds.

Davie Barr won a decision over a Chinese boy called Joe Knapp. This pair, fighting at 118 pounds, put on a spirited engagement over four rounds, with Barr's greater experience earning him the call. The Chinese boy, green to the ring game, fought gamely, but tired badly in the last round, and proved to be an easy mark for Barr. The boys were given a big hand by the crowd.

Tom Embrey emerged victor in the battle royal. Five boys entered the ring for this show and blows were swung in all directions. Robert Wade, Pat Graham and Gordon Reid passed out of the picture quickly and then Embrey floored Ronald Richer to win the call.

TIM KEIST

Who won a close call over Tommy Drysdale in one of the dual main events of Promoter Joe Bayley's fisticuff show, put on last night at the Variety Theatre. Keist's margin was of the hairline variety.

EXPLANATION FOR YESTERDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

The Great Grape Vine—This aged vine is situated at the end of the "Pond Garden" in Hampton Court Palace Gardens, England. It was planted in 1768 from a slip off a vine at Valentines, in the parish of Ilford, Essex, England, which was also a vine of great proportions. The grapes are of the black Hamburg variety, the average yield being over 650 bunches of from one to two and a half pounds each, and it has been known to produce 2,000 bunches in one year.

SPEED KEYNOTE OF MAKEUP OF TORONTO LEAFS

Queen City N.H.L. Representatives Will Have One of Fastest Teams in Circuit

CLANCY EXPECTED TO BE TOWER OF STRENGTH

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Speed and more speed is the keynote of the makeup of the Toronto Maple Leafs, now playing on an exhibition tour preparing themselves for the National Hockey League season opening. Managing Director Conny Smythe, who has this year signed over the coaching duties to the big smiling defence star, Art Duncan, made one of the surprise deals of the trading season when he swapped two players and $35,000 in cash for Frank "King" Clancy, dynamic defenceman, formerly with Ottawa Senators. Purchase of Clancy not only strengthens the rearguard but will also provide the Leafs with additional speed.

Rated one of the best defencemen of all time, Clancy will team up on the defence with another speed artist, Clarence "Happy" Day, who has been with the Leafs since turning professional. The pair will form one of the fastest rearguards in the league.

GOALIE UNCERTAIN

Just who will do the net-minding duties for the locals is an uncertainty yet. If, however, youthful Benny Grant, the Owen Sound boy who played with Minneapolis of the American Association last year, lives up to the expectations of Smythe, it is likely that he will be retained in place of Lorne Chabot. The latter has been with the Leafs since New York Rangers traded him and plenty of cash for John Ross Roach.

Coach Duncan plans to use two forward lines only this season, as he is a firm believer in giving his players plenty to do. The first string line will be composed of Andy Blair at centre, with Ace Bailey and Harold Cotton flanking him. Blair, who experienced an off-season last year and who has been bothered during training by defective teeth, has shown a return to his old form in pre-season exhibition games, much to the pleasure of club officials.

The secondary line should prove just as good as the so-called first stringers. Youthful, big and fast, Charlie Connacher, Harvey Jackson and Joe Primeau, styled the Marlboro "Kid," gained valuable experience during the 1929-30 grind and already predictions are being made they will prove the standout line of the league.

CONNACHER IMPROVED

Connacher was operated on last Spring for removal of a kidney, but loss of the organ has improved his ability, or at least his temperament, judging by his progress since the team took the ice. He weighs about 200 pounds, just a couple of points less than his more illustrious brother, Lionel, of the Montreal Maroons.

Only two utility players will be carried by Toronto if present plans are carried through. The Leafs mentor did not try out many recruits during the training session, despite the loss of Art Smith and Eric Pettinger in the deal for Clancy. Smith, an aggressive defence player, has been replaced by "Red" Horner, another Marlboro product, who will do all the relief work on the defence. "Shrimp" McPherson, who has played in various minor professional leagues since deserting the Simon Pures here some years ago, will likely be used as relief performer on both front lines.

The executive committee follows: Misses Grace Copas, Betty Harris, Kay Knapton, E. Cameron, M. Hughes, Messrs. Lionel Huxtable, James Kesson, Bill Gelling, Don Harrison, Tomy Forbes, Oliver M. Prentice and Horace Goad.

The meeting approved of certain repairs and other improvements to the courts and also a dance this evening at the Amphion Hall, starting at 9 o'clock. Tickets may be secured from any of the members or committee.

AMATEUR ATHLETIC UNION REINSTATES BIG PRAIRIE GROUP

Simon-Pures Who Took Part in Game With Sammy McAdam at Winnipeg, Last Summer, Placed Back in Good Graces by Dukes at Annual Parley

British Columbia Lacrosse Players' Cases Will Be Considered Today

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6. — The famous McAdam case, which originated in Winnipeg last Summer when Sammy McAdam, professional hockey player, took part in an "amateur" soccer game, thus professionalizing those who played with or against him, was brought to a conclusion at the annual meeting of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, which opened here today. Eighteen amateur athletes, mostly hockey players, who were suspended by national amateur authorities and classed as Class "B" professionals, because of having played soccer with or against McAdam, were reinstated at a late session of the convention today.

The registration committee, under the chairmanship of J. W. Hamilton, of Regina, dealt with the individual cases at a lengthy conclave before this afternoon's convention session got under way, and later reported to the meeting at large that it recommended immediate reinstatement of all athletes concerned in the McAdam case. The registration committee also recommended the reinstatement of eighteen other athletes who have been classed as Class "B" professionals. All recommendations were subsequently passed by the convention without comment.

CLASS "A" UP TODAY

The committee has not yet considered reinstatement of Class "A" professionals whose applications are on hand. These will likely come up tomorrow. The Class "A" list to be considered includes a number of British Columbia lacrosse players.

Names of those reinstated today follow:

Alberta — Thomas A. Jenkins, George Walter Charles, A. Howard, E. J. Ducey, Roy Forman, George Green, Kenneth L. Purcell, James Rattray, Howard Teel, Jack K. Bellamy, F. W. Liddle. Liddle is a boxer, while all others are baseball players.

Manitoba—G. Hutchinson, Sam Krupp, Walter G. Monson, A. Pattenden, Jack Perlmutter, Louis Geller, Allan Lock, Hymie Bregman, Harry Geller, Meacho Friller, Sidney Dexter, Louis Hershfield, Charles Krupp, A. Foster, Ben Glusman, Sam N. Greenberg, W. Jackson, H. W. Shields, R. McFarlane and H. C. Kendall. McFarlane and Kendall are baseball players, while all the other Manitoba reinstatements had to do with the McAdam case.

Nova Scotia—Maurice McDonald, a boxer.

Ontario—W. Wright and Lou Lister, baseball players, and C. Pugh, soccer player.

Quebec—Joseph Nasmith, soccer player.

UNION IN GOOD SHAPE

Other items during this afternoon's session included the reading of the secretary's and the treasurer's reports, both of which were adopted. The secretary reported progress in amateur athletics in general throughout the Dominion, while the treasurer's report showed the union to be in a healthy financial condition. The annual report showed a cash balance on hand of over $500, while money on hand not included in the report, having been received after the printing of the statement, amounted to close to $2,000.

Other reports adopted included those presented by the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Union, the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, the Y.M.C.A., Athletic League, the Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen, the Canadian Basketball Association, the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, the Canadian National Railways Recreation Athletic Federation. It was noted with interest by those present that the lacrosse association reported itself to be in a healthy condition after many years of adversity.

The secretary reported that an application for affiliation had been received from the Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Union. He hoped the application would receive the sympathetic consideration of the delegates at the present convention.

BY-LAWS DISCUSSED

Delegates discussed several changes in wording of the by-laws, all of which were referred back to the resolutions committee. The latter committee reported favorably on the sugeestion of C. E. Higginbottom, of the Ontario Branch of the A.A.U. of C., that in future provincial championship boxing bouts and bouts staged by individual clubs at tourney's under the direction of the provincial branches be extended to five rounds of two minutes each. The present ruling limits a bout to three rounds of three minutes each, but Mr. Higginbotoom's resolution made it clear that either time limit could be used at the option of those in charge of the championships or tourney concerned.

Featuring his opening address with the flat statement that it was unconstitutional to provisionally reinsate an athlete to amateur standing pending action by the Canadian body, Professor T. R. Loudon, of Toronto, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, opened the annual meeting of that body here.

FORTY DELEGATES ATTEND

About forty delegates were in attendance when the convention got down to work. Minutes of the previous meeting and the president's report were quickly adopted, while seven committees were appointed to deal with various phases of Canadian amateur sport.

President Loudon intimated that it had been suggested at various times that certain athletes applying for reinstatement be allowed to take part in amateur sport until definite action on their respective cases had been taken by the governing body of the Dominion. He emphatically declared that such action was unconstitutional.

Touching on the Olympic committee, the president said that that body could not function properly as at present constituted. It is most probable that action regarding the committee will be taken at a subsequent session of the convention. Professor Loudon also referred to the past year in amateur sport in Canada as having been a banner one, instancing the British Empire Games at Hamilton as the leading feature.

Chairman of committees were chosen as follows:

Credentials, C. C. Robinson, Winnipeg; resolutions, J. H. Crocker, Toronto; registration, J. W. Hamilton, Regina; rules and records, E. H. Bourbon, Montreal; Olympic matters, Judge Jackson, Lethbridge; applications and alliances, W. A. Aldritt, Winnipeg; definition of amateur, W. H. Kilby, Montreal.

DELEGATES WELCOMED

In welcoming the convention to Vancouver, Alderman Dean, who represented Mayor Malkin, said he hoped the Olympic trials for the 1932 games at Los Angeles, would be awarded to Vancouver. He said the City Council was back of the idea to bring the trials here, and said plans for a suitable stadium were under way. In reply, Professor Loudon said the A.A.U. of C. had the Vancouver proposition under consideration and that every consideration would be given to it.

STRIBLING IS ANXIOUS FOR GO WITH MAX

Atlanta Heavy Issues Challenge to German Champion—Fight Anywhere

SIGNS CONTRACT TO MEET JACK SHARKEY

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Young Stribling, Atlanta, Ga., heavyweight, filed a challenge with the Illinois State Athletic Commission today for a championship match with Max Schmeling, recognized as heavyweight champion of the world. Stribling, through his father, "Pa" Stribling, who acts as his manager, posted a cheque for $2,500 and indicated his willingness to have the fight staged anywhere in the country.

YOUNG STRIBLING

Answering the report from Boston that Jack Sharkey had offered to fight Stribling, without compensation, with the receipts going to charity, "Pa" Stribling said he could not consider the offer as W.L. had signed to fight in the Chicago Stadium, December 12. Either Paulino Uscudun or Tuffy Griffiths probably will be Stribling's opponent for the Stadium engagement.

SIGNS CONTRACT

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 6.—W. L. (Young) Stribling said today he had signed contracts to fight Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight, either in Chicago or Atlanta, and that further negotiations would have to be made through his father, who is in Chicago.

MILTON CUP SERIES OPENS TOMORROW

Victoria West and Dockers Will Meet In Opening Round

Strong Soccer Elevens Will Provide Only Senior Attraction for Fans at Royal Athletic Park— Line-Ups Are Announced

After five weeks of league fixtures, a new dish will be presented to the followers of soccer tomorrow afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park at 2:30 o'clock, when the Victoria West and Esquimalt senior elevens hook up in the opening round of the Milton Cup series.

The Milton Cup series always attracts a great deal of interest with the fans and with the initial fixture scheduled tomorrow a bumper crowd is expected to be on hand. Owing to a mix-up in the draw, the remainder of the senior First Division clubs will be idle until next week, when league games will be resumed.

In Esquimalt, the Greenshirts will have their hands full as the Dockers are the only squad in the faster company that have not had the word "defeat" chalked opposite their name this season. Although they have been held to two draws, they are still setting the pace and look like the club to beat to obtain the honors. Last week they went out and trounced Victoria City by a 6-1 score after a fine exhibition of the pastime.

GREENSHIRTS STRONG

Doc Poyntz is fielding a strong aggregation with hopes of lowering the Esquimalt colors for the first time. Bill Milligan, inside left, will be back in the harness and should add considerable power to the Wests' front line. Willoughby will tend goal, with Bill Lloyd and the veteran Bob Whyte in front of him. Ken Thompson, Max Williams and Dave Stewart will form the half line. Harry Youson, "Scotty" Robertson, Frank Youson, Milligan and Pat Mulcahy will comprise the offensive group.

Louie De Costa, who has been selected to guard the hemp for the All-Star eleven Monday against St. Andrew's, will look after the Wests' shots, while Nicol and Joe Watt will play fullbacks. Hosmer, "Scotty" Nurse and Mesher will be the halfbacks, and Dick Burnett, John Watt, Blake, "Scotty" Stewart and Mike Wagland will do the attacking.

FREDERICKSON STILL HOCKEY FREE LANCE

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—A rugged Viking in a ragged hockey sweater tonight carried memories of Winnipeg railbirds ten years into the past. Frank Fredrickson, unattached professional who has played for Victoria, Detroit, Boston and Pittsburgh, ranged down-ice at practice in form reminiscent of the days when he was centre for Falcons, 1920 world champs.

"I can go as well as I ever did," stated the big Icelander after his first heavy workout, claiming that the knee injury which banned him from play most of last season was healed. So far, no major league clubs have bid for his services since he was released by Pittsburgh two weeks ago, and Fredrickson has spurned a couple of minor-loop offers.

ST. ANDREW'S TO BRING OVER STRONG ELEVEN

Line-Up to Oppose All-Star Squad Monday Afternoon Is Highly Rated

TEAM ANNOUNCED FOR GAME HERE

Strong on the defensive, equally as good on the offensive and rated as one of the smoothest working soccer aggregations in the province, St. Andrew's, who will provide the opposition against the all-star eleven chosen from the first division loop at the Royal Athletic Park at 2:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon, will take the field with their strongest squad, according to word received here yesterday.

The Saints are right on the heels of the undefeated New Westminster Royals, Dominion champions, in the race for the Pacific Coast League championship, and the fans who attend the fixture will see a great machine in action. The local all-stars are formidable and should give a good account of themselves against the Mainlanders.

Between the sticks for the visitors will be a chap named Singleton, one of the main cogs in the flashy machine. Singleton has turned in some fine performances this season and his goal tending will be watched with great interest. In front of him on the back division is Watson and Henderson, two fine defensive players, while Arnott, McFarlane and Alcock will line up on the half line.

Dawson, flashy centre forward, will be the pivot of attack, flanked on the inside positions by Munro and Stephen. Munro will hold inside right position and Stephen at inside left. Ashdown will parade up and down right wing with Downie on the left lane. The front line attackers are balanced well, tricky, and noted for their deadly shooting from all angles.

Rennie & Taylor Cup Series Will Start on Monday

WEDNESDAY League soccer teams will provide the attraction for the holiday fans on Thanksgiving Day morning, with the Navy, undefeated leaders, clashing with their friendly rivals, Garrison, in the semi-final round of the Rennie & Taylor Cup series. The fixture will start at 10:30 o'clock, and a great battle is expected.

BILLIARDS

With J. Waterson and W. Thornborrow playing fine billiards, Pro Patria scored a great victory over Veterans of France in an "A" division fixture in the Interservice Billiard League last night. Scores follow:

DODE BERCOT WINS

BELLINGHAM, Nov. 6.—Dode Bercot, Whidby Island, won a close decision over "Arizona" Jack Spaw, Seattle welterweight, in the main event on the American Legion card here last night. Both men put on an exhibition of clever boxing, with few punishing blows being landed.

Red Tingley, 170 pounds, took a hard-fought decision from Bucky Harris, Seattle, in the semi-final.

Harry Williams, Bellingham, was given the decision over Buddy Bercot, Seattle welterweight, in a four-round special event.

Collegians to Settle Rugby Question Today

Victoria College to Hold Meeting to Decide Whether or Not Team Will Enter Senior Ranks—Many Players Opposed to Change

Will the Victoria College intermediate Rugby fifteen enter the senior league?

This question, which was first brought up at a meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union on Wednesday evening, will be settled this afternoon at a special meeting of the Students' Council at the Craigdarroch institution. When the news was broken to the squad yesterday, consternation reigned among the players, some stating that playing senior will be all right, while the majority turned against the idea.

Three years ago College started a winning streak in British Columbia intermediate circles, which today after some comparatively easy games against local and Mainland fifteens, still remains unbroken. In their first year of steady victories they smashed through squad after squad, running up some one-sided scores, to capture the city and provincial championships.

WONDERFUL RECORD

With many of their 1928 squad back in the harness, College waltzed through last season without the slightest sign of any opposition, piling up over 200 points as against six. Again they captured the local and British Columbia honors in a manner unequaled in provincial intermediate Rugby circles.

With the 1930 season still in its infancy, College are heading down the trail towards their third successive city championship in their usual style, and as a result complaints have been placed before the Victoria Rugby Union that they are too powerful for intermediate ranks and should be asked to play in the faster company.

They have been asked through the Rugby union and the answer will be handed down today.

CALCUTTA TOURNEY RESULTS ANNOUNCED

Sharp Competition Marks Playing of First Rounds of Annual Meet at Oak Bay Links

Sharp competition marked the opening rounds of the Calcutta Foursomes played at the Victoria Golf Club. The winners in the majority of the matches played good golf, but were forced to come through to victory. The second round is now in progress, and the final will be played in the early part of next month.

FOUR PUCKCHASERS FARMED BY BRUINS

Manager Art Ross Turns Over Quintette of Youngsters to Boston Tigers for Experience

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—Manager Art Ross, of the Boston Bruins, today announced that he was turning over four of his young hockey prospects to the Boston Tigers, and that in the future all of the Bruins' new players would be given to Manager Eddie Powers' Canadian-American League club for development. In previous seasons Ross has turned his spare players over to the Philadelphia Canadian-American team.

Myles Lane, former Dartmouth football and hockey star, who had been with the Bruins for the past three seasons, is the outstanding man of the quartette transferred to the Tigers. The others are Bobby Taylor, who was drafted from the Tigers a year ago, Bill Bradner and Guy McNeil, all forwards.

The Bruins and Tigers will give Boston its first taste of professional hockey Saturday when they play an exhibition game for charity.

AID IS GIVEN PENNILESS MAN BY COMMITTEE

One of Many Deserving Cases Attended by Armistice Period Executive

EVERY CITIZEN IS ASKED TO SUBSCRIBE

Penniless, without food, and threatened with eviction from his home, a veteran yesterday applied for assistance from the Armistice Period fund. He is a willing worker, ready to do anything, but the effects of service have greatly impaired his earning powers.

Seven people are dependent upon him, a wife and a widowed sister with five children. The widow was the wife of a veteran who died in recent years from a disability which the Government would not recognize as due to war service. Consequently she receives no pension, and not having lived in the province long enough to qualify, she cannot obtain the mothers' pension.

The Armistice Period Committee gave him a small order for groceries to carry him over the next few days, but he and many more, who were acclaimed as heroes in days gone by, will find little to be thankful for on Thanksgiving Day when they sit down to their scanty repasts and wonder where the next meal will come from. And it is only twelve years since the war ceased; twelve years from the time when men were dying and suffering to serve their country and its people.

Distress is rampant and every citizen in whom gratitude still lives is asked to send a subscription without delay. Cheques should be mailed to the honorary treasurer, R. F. Taylor, Canadian Red Cross Office, 317 Belmont House, or donations may be left at campaign headquarters, 629 Fort Street; telephones E 0541 and E 6542.

What Today Means

"SCORPIO"

If November 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and from 11 p.m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 11 a.m. to noon, and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

A drab day, viewed from the point of accomplishments, is predicted for this date. It will be a period of contemplation and dreaming more than action. A domestic unhappiness. Worry and disappointment in connection with intimate personal ties.

The child born on this November 7 will be shrewd and cunning, and will have its own way "by hook or crook." It will do things impulsively, will be easily discouraged and sensitive. It will have mechanical skill.

You have a bright philosophy of life, you look out for things to appreciate, and see twice as much as he who is looking out for things to grumble at. The underlying structures of your character are solid, and your granite-like reputations are not created by fantastic and unprincipled self-advertising. Your actions prove the honesty and decency of your nature as well as the bigness of your heart. You make no promise you cannot fulfill to the utmost in letter and spirit.

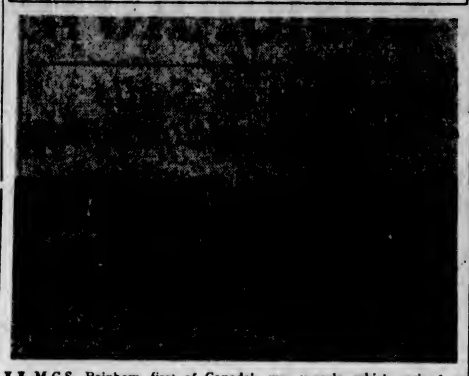
Life to you is an adventure, and when the thrill has gone out of an effort (business or pleasure), when you know you can do no better, your interest lags, and you are ready to take on new problems to unravel. You are never anxious to give your active mind a vacation. Indolence and you are not on speaking terms. As a man, you have money sense, and you cannot only make it, but you can keep it. You are not a "tight wad," but you want full receipt for value given. You never try to put on a show, and your tastes are sensible and simple.

As a woman, you know how to apply business principles within the home, and you will make a true helpmate to your husband. Service is the keynote of your life. Both men and women, have very discreet tongues, and make safe confidants. You make very delightful friends and relentless enemies.

F.O.E. DANCE

A most successful dance and frolic was held Wednesday night by the Fraternal Order of Eagles at the Sons of Canada Hall. So numerous were the guests that it was necessary for a portion of them to continue at the old home of the Eagles. At the conclusion of the dance at midnight a frolic was held till 1 o'clock.

Arrival Will Be Recalled



H.M.C.S. Rainbow, first of Canada's war vessels, which arrived at Esquimalt Harbor on November 7, 1910. Tonight original members of the crew of this cruiser will gather at a reunion dinner to commemorate her arrival here twenty years ago.

WILL RECALL BYGONE DAYS

Arrival of H.M.C.S. Rainbow, 20 Years Ago, to Be Commemorated

BANQUET IS TONIGHT

Days of twenty years ago, when H.M.C.S. Rainbow, Canada's first war vessel, pushed her nose slowly into Esquimalt Harbor, will be recalled tonight, when original members of the crew gather at a reunion dinner at the clubrooms of the Naval Veterans Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., Johnson and Broad Streets, at 8 o'clock.

Built in 1891 at Jarrow, the Rainbow was a sister ship of ten other second-class cruisers built in that year, under the Naval Defence Act of 1890. The complete ship's company numbered 273. The vessel had a length of 300 feet, a beam of forty-three feet eight inches and an average draught of seventeen feet six inches. Her actual displacement was 3,600 tons, while the horsepower of her engines, under actual draught, was 7,000, and under forced draught, 9,000. The Rainbow had a coal capacity of 400 tons, and with this could steam 6,000 miles at a speed of ten knots.

Commander J. D. Stewart, R.N., brought the Rainbow to Esquimalt, and after a command of two years returned to England. Commodore Hose succeeded Commander Stewart when the latter left for the Old Country.

The Rainbow arrived at Esquimalt on November 7, 1910. She was officially welcomed by the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, Hon. W. Templeman, Minister of Mines, Premier McBride of British Columbia and Mayor Morley of Victoria.

At a banquet at the Drill Hall on November 10, 1910, further celebrations took place, and Commander Vivian of H.M.S. Shearwater, one of the three British ships stationed at Esquimalt, warmly welcomed the coming Canadian Navy as a sign of strength added to Britain in its struggle for supremacy on that sea which was the life of the Empire, the basis of its power and union.

Tonight members of the crew of H.M.C.S. Rainbow gather at a function which will be proper and fitting to commemorate the date of the ship's arrival at Esquimalt. A first-class programme has been prepared for the many seamen of twenty years ago who will be on hand to meet old comrades tonight.

BROADCAST BRIEFS OF THE AIR

When the Pennsylvania and Notre Dame football teams meet at Philadelphia tomorrow, William Munday will be present to describe the game to N.B.C. listeners from coast to coast between 10:50 and 1:30, Pacific standard time. The "Georgia Drawl," as Munday is known, will be heard in the West through station KOMO.

A roaring lion will greet N.B.C. listeners when the Gilmore Circus goes on the air tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, Pacific standard time. The orchestra featured in this period is conducted by Charles Hart. A variety of selections are played, ranging from the semi-classic to light popular, and then for the remainder of the half-hour the atmosphere of the "Big Top" will be recreated and the cries of the barkers, refreshment vendors and spectators, the music of a typical circus and the words of the master of ceremonies will be heard through the loudspeaker. This period of entertainment will come to local listeners over KOMO.

Songs of the University of Washington will occupy the ether lanes during the presentation of the college period of the Spotlight Review over an N.B.C. network tomorrow between 10:30 and 12:00 o'clock, Pacific standard time. Harry Anderson, sales manager of the N.B.C. Pacific Division and alumnus of the Seattle University, will officiate as master of ceremonies during the collegiate offering. Jimmie Phelan, coach at the University of Washington, will take part in the broadcast, which follows tomorrow's football game with Stanford. He will be interviewed by Lloyd E. Yoder, of the N.B.C. staff, all-American star of a few years ago.

AFTER ALL IT'S THE LITTLE "B.T.U.'s" THAT COUNT

A year or so ago, before vitamins became popular, food experts were all talking "calories." Calories are to food what "B.T.U.'s" are to coal . . . units of heat. The natural heat of the human body is determined by the number of calories supplied by certain foods. Similarly, the amount of heat your furnace develops, depends on the kind of coal you use. The more heat units there are in the coal you use, the warmer your home will be.

It always pays to buy the coal which has the most B.T.U.'s per dollar. Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox Coal actually contain more heat units than any other coal you buy on this market. These Island Coals by chemical analysis show an average of 13,030 B.T.U's, where other non-Island grades hardly ever show more than 10,000 . . . often less.

Therefore when you buy Island Coal you are buying more heat per dollar. You are also helping to support one of the major industries of British Columbia and you are doing your share in helping to solve the unemployment problem.

Any one of the dealers listed herewith will guarantee honest weight, honest grading and honest prices.

Always order "Nanaimo-Wellington" or "Comox" Coal. Remember it's the "B.T.U.'s" that count!

South Saanich Dramatic Club To Meet Nov. 24

Announcement is made of the formation of the Electra Society in South Saanich, which has for its objects the expression of various branches of dramatic art, music, drama, the dance, and elocution, with talent drawn from local artists. Organization was effected at a meeting held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. B. Hudson, when a working constitution was approved and the officers elected as follows: President, F. Rendle; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. B. Hudson and Mrs. Harper; secretary-treasurer, Robert L. Clarke; executive, A. W. Semple (drama); J. Lennings (vocal); Mrs. Silver (music), Mrs. J. B. Hudson (dancing), Mrs. White (elocution), Miss M. Holmes (debating), Mrs. G. Hunter, Mrs. N. Mortimer, A. Francis.

Mr. Rendle outlined the object as being the establishment of a dramatic society, which would be entirely dependent upon community effort, combining all dramatic work in South Saanich. He expected to find much local talent to make the undertaking a success.

Any intending members should communicate with either Frank Rendle or Robert Clark, of Cedar Hill Crossroad, the fees being $1 per annum. All interested are invited to attend the next general meeting, to be held November 24, at St. Aidan's Hall.

MANY APPLICATIONS MADE FOR POSITION OF ROAD ENGINEER

DUNCAN, Nov. 6. — Sixty-one applications for the position of municipal road engineer were considered by the North Cowichan Council at a meeting held here today. After going into committee, the council decided to ask J. Gilbert and B. C. Bordessa, both of Vancouver, to interview the council. The appointment will be held at a meeting to be held on November 13.

The council authorized the investment of $3,000 for sinking fund security in Province of Ontario 4½ per cent bonds, maturing in 1937.

Cowichan Branch of Legion in New Home Adopts Club Rules

DUNCAN, Nov. 6.—The Cowichan Branch of the Canadian Legion met Monday evening in its clubrooms in its own building for the first time.

Club matters featured the proceedings conducted by Comrade K. F. Duncan, president, who laid it down plainly that the club would be conducted on proper lines and that the letter of the law under which it was operating would be strictly observed.

Comrades A. J. Castle, R. H. Whittome and J. Shearlaw, the club committee, were asked to continue their work as the house committee until the end of the year. The law allows honorary club members to the number of 30 per cent of the paid-up legion membership. Such, the meeting decided, must be proposed and seconded, and recommended by the house committee for approval by the legion executive. They will pay $1.50 entrance fee and $3 yearly dues.

REMODELED BUILDING

Reporting for the club committee, Comrade Whittome said they had been given power to act. The result was before the members of the branch. The building had been reconstructed by Comrade Shearlaw and many other helpers. They had a lease of the building for two years at a monthly rental of $30 and option to purchase at $3,200.

In Comrade Hatter they had obtained an excellent steward. Comrade Whittome moved and Comrade Groves seconded that a letter of thanks be sent to C. F. Davie, M.P.P., for his assistance in securing the licence.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Those nominated for election as officers next year were Comrades M. A. Kinch for president; F. W. Hitchcox for vice-president; G. V. Jarvis for second vice-president; A. Goddard for treasurer; J. D. Groves for trustee, and Comrades Duncan, Nugent, Gore-Langton, Dunkley, Knox, Stephenson, Smythe, Mourant, Dowman and Gibbs for executive.

TRAVELER SPEAKS OF INFLUENCE OF CANADA

NANAIMO, Nov. 6.—"Socially and politically during the next century, Canada, in my opinion, is much more likely to influence the United States, despite her smaller population, than the United States is likely to influence Canada. Canada is sounder, both politically and socially, than the United States."

This prophetic declaration was made yesterday afternoon by John Bird, distinguished Anglo-South African scholar, journalist and lecturer, who spoke at a special meeting of the Women's Canadian Club in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Coming here under the auspices of the Association of Canadian Clubs and exceptionally fine recommendations, Mr. Bird more than fulfilled expectations in dealing with his subject, "Great Britain, Canada and the United States; Is Canada a Link?"

Mrs. G. Bell Brown, vice-president, presided.

A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. Thomas Spencer to Mr. Bird for his very interesting and instructive address.

EGG MARKET REVIEW

The Egg and Poultry Market Review, published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture under date of November 4, says:

Fresh egg production throughout Canada is now at a very low point, and in most centres the large majority of trading is being done in storage eggs. The only exception to this condition is in British Columbia. In that province fresh egg production is starting to pick up again as the new pullets come more fully into the lay.

Under this condition of scarce fresh egg supplies, the market is, as may be expected, showing considerable firmness, and in the large consuming centres values have worked firmer during the week. That there have not been corresponding advances on some of the minor markets is due to the fact that supplies are so scarce that they carry little weight in market considerations.

The fresh egg market at the present time is very difficult to quote with any degree of accuracy. Especially is this the case with quotations to country shippers. In the majority of cases such quotations are merely nominal and cannot be taken as a true indication of market conditions. Wholesale prices to retail stores furnish a much truer basis of values at this season, while values on carlot or l.c.l. shipments moving between provinces form the best basis of arriving at an understanding of real market values.

A report covering storage holdings in Montreal has been issued by the Board of Trade in that city. This shows a total of 104,046 cases of eggs in storage in Montreal at the first of the month, as compared with 77,844 cases on November 1, 1929. During the month of October, 24,941 cases were moved out of storage in Montreal.

It should be noted that practically all the storage eggs moved out so far have been for local consumption. One shipment of eggs was exported recently from Western Ontario, but this is the only export shipment of Canadian eggs reported to date. There have, in addition, been some United States eggs coming export in bond from Montreal.

In British Columbia, as intimated above, egg production is now on the increase, and this province is sending some considerable volume of eggs to the prairies and the East. Both Calgary and Winnipeg report the receipt of a few small shipments of British Columbia eggs during the week and there have been two carlots to Montreal. From now on British Columbia may be expected to supply an increasingly large volume of eggs for prairie and Eastern markets. These, however, cannot begin to meet the demand for fresh eggs which exists all over the country, and, as supplies in all other sections are light, it appears probable that the bulk of the trading for some time to come will be in storage stocks.

WHAT is style? For the majority, it is always a will-o'-the-wisp.

What produces style, is the attempt of the alert minority to keep ahead of the sluggish majority — a race between the "quick" and the "dead."

Once the majority catches the minority's style, that style is dead. The alert minority is already flirting with a new style from Savile Row.

The sluggish majority sorrowfully surveys its failure, and then resumes the hopeless race.

Impy Brings Home a Prize

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Say what you please, most folk who eat
Are better for a little meat.
—Impy the Chipmunk.

Every day Impy, the black Chipmunk, did a little hunting. Please don't think that Impy and little Mrs. Impy lived entirely on nuts and seeds and things of that kind. All the members of the Squirrel family, and of course this includes the Chipmunks, like a little meat now and then. Yes, sir, they do so. They not only like it, but they get it.

So, this particular morning Impy had started out to look for some meat. He felt hungry for meat. Of course, some good big insects would do very nicely. He thought of grasshoppers, but he hadn't had much luck in getting grasshoppers of late. You see, they were beginning to be a little out of season. Nevertheless, Impy started out to look for some. He knew that if he could only find some, they would be easier to catch now than they had been earlier in the season when it was warmer.

Impy had hunted about for some time in places where he had found grasshoppers before, but without success this time. He was getting discouraged when he noticed a little movement in the grass just ahead of him. Instantly he was all alertness. He stole forward softly, but rapidly, peering ahead with those bright little eyes of his for whatever might be there. Something, or someone, was moving through the grass. Presently he saw something green. The grass was no longer green, it was brown. It was a half-grown grass snake. Impy's eyes sparkled. Here was the meat he needed.

Just then the little snake saw him and faced him. There was nothing cowardly about the little snake. He raised his head and ran his tongue out at Impy, and if he was afraid he didn't show it. Impy danced this way and danced that way, looking for a chance to spring in and seize that little snake by the back of his head. Presently he saw his chance and, darting forward, he seized the little snake. The latter struggled and struggled, but in vain. Very proudly Impy started home with his prize.

Just Then the Little Snake Saw Him and Faced Him

Mrs. Impy saw Impy coming. "What have you there?" she demanded.

"Fresh meat," replied Impy. "I was very meat hungry. Nuts and seeds and mushrooms are all very well, but one needs a little meat to go with them once in a while."

"Quite right, my dear," replied Mrs. Impy. "I was meat hungry myself. I have been out looking for a mouse, but I couldn't find one. This will do quite as well."

So Impy and Mrs. Impy dined on the little snake. I suspect that many of their friends do not know that Chipmunks go snake hunting once in a while. They do, however, just as they go stealing the eggs and young of the nests of birds who are foolish enough to build on the ground. It is all because they do have the need of a little meat once in a while.

"I feel better," said Impy.

"So do I," replied Mrs. Impy. "I don't suppose we'll have any meat through the Winter."

"I don't suppose we shall," replied Impy.

They were quite right. There would be no chance for them to get meat in the Winter.

Mayor A. Wells Gray Seeking Re-election

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 6.—Mayor A. Wells Gray, who announced today that he will seek election for his twelfth term, will be opposed by Dr. J. S. Pirie, chosen Wednesday night by New Westminster's Ratepayers' Association as mayoralty candidate.

The Labor Temple was crowded to the doors for Wednesday night's meeting, during which severe criticism was levelled at the council for the manner in which civic relief is being conducted. It was maintained that more than $45,000 might have been obtained from the Government had work more urgent than parks been included in the council's programme.

Friend—And did her father come between you?

Jilted Suitor—Oh, no. Merely behind me.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

At The Playhouses

CAPITOL THEATRE "The Bad Man," adapted from Porter Emerson Browne's famous play, is laid on an Arizona ranch, near the border, which suffers from the raids of bandits, particularly one, Pancho Lopez by name. Lopez is the central character of the story. Walter Huston plays the role. Others in the cast are Dorothy Revier, O. P. Heggie, Marion Byron, James Rennie and Arthur Stone. "The Bad Man" is now showing at the Capitol Theatre.

COLISEUM THEATRE Ivan Lebedeff was trained for the Russian Empire's diplomatic corps, but war and a revolution checked his career. Now, he's a movie actor and appears as a Russian baron in Radio Pictures' musical comedy hit, "The Cuckoos." "The Cuckoos" is now showing at the Coliseum Theatre.

DOMINION THEATRE An evening of solid enjoyment awaits you at the Dominion Theatre, where "Love in the Rough," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's musical comedy picturization of the stage play, "Spring Fever," is the current screen attraction. In the new talkie feature which opened yesterday, Robert Montgomery is featured with Dorothy Jordan as the singing and dancing sweethearts and make a substantial bid for recognition as a new romantic pair.

COLUMBIA THEATRE In "The Aviator," the latest Warner Bros.' production now at the Columbia Theatre, Edward Everett Horton plays the role of a staid author who is forced to go aloft lone in his first airplane ride, to maintain an undeserved reputation as a skillful stunt flyer. Funniest farce of the year.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Lilyan Tashman, often described as the best gowned woman in Hollywood, portrays the leading feminine role in "On the Level," Fox Movietone all-talking romance, featuring Victor McLaglen, current attraction at the Playhouse Theatre.

McLEOD PLAYERS TO OPEN NEXT MONDAY

Without doubt there is great eagerness to see the first play of the second season that the Gordon McLeod Players are starting at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Monday. "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," which is the play chosen for the first week, is one of the most ambitious and clever productions that this company has put on at the Royal. It is a play that had one of the longest runs in London and New York. From start to finish it is full of fun, and situations that are exquisitely funny, but withal it is clever and has a big idea. It is a story of a young woman matching her brains against those of a millionaire and finally winning out. How she, as the eighth wife of this fickle husband, manages to keep him the play will unfold.

BETTY BALFOUR WILL APPEAR AT COLISEUM

Betty Balfour's first talking picture, "Raise the Roof," definitely establishes her in the new medium, and proves her to be, if anything, more versatile and a better comedienne than she had an opportunity of proving in the old silent pictures. She sings and dances as in a manner born, whilst her singing and talking voice is very pleasing to the ear and the recording throughout excellent. "Raise the Roof" will be at the Coliseum Theatre tomorrow.

AUSTRALIA'S BAN ON GALVANIZED IRON IS AIRED BY PARLIAMENT

CANBERRA, Australia, Nov. 6.—Charges against the Labor ministry, in connection with the customs ruling prohibiting import of galvanized iron, were made in the House of Representatives today by Hon. H. S. Gullett, former Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Mr. Gullett declared the closing of the big Lysaght steel works, which was cited by the Government as one reason for the ban on imports of galvanized iron, was a purposeful sham because the company was itself the largest importer of galvanized iron in the Commonwealth.

The company, asserted Mr. Gullett, had imported 10,000 tons between January and May. It had secured the embargo on the ground of heavy importations and had at the same time increased the price of imported stocks by thirty shillings per ton.

THREE TRUSTEES SAY THEY SEEK NEW TERMS

Chairman George Jay, W. C. Moresby and G. A. A. Hebden Announce Intention to Run

All three retiring members of the Victoria School Board will seek re-election at the coming municipal elections, it was learned yesterday. They are George Jay, chairman of the board, and Trustees G. A. A. Hebden and W. C. Moresby, K.C. Each has served for two years and is now at the conclusion of his term.

Mr. Jay has been a member of the School Board for the past twenty-seven years, being first elected in 1901. His record of service has been continuous, with the exception of one two-year period, 1919 to 1921. Trustees Moresby and Hebden have taken an active part in education work and have served on important committees.

West	Pass	Pass	Pass
North	2 ♥	3 ♦
East	Pass	Pass

While players will often go to the extreme in taking a finesse either in own hand or Dummy which contains either the A-Q or K-J combination, many of them are entirely too prone to overlook situations such as where the K-Q are both missing from the combined hands and the effort to finesse must be made twice.

In the above deal played by North at Hearts, A Spade opening puts South in the lead immediately. If he should, without considering the situation, immediately lay down his Ace of trumps in Dummy, it would be impossible for him to go game, for in such case but one lead of Diamonds could be made from Dummy. One lead of Diamonds from Dummy does no good whatever, but two leads will enable Declarer to catch West's Queen and lose but one trick in the suit.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Contract: South opens the bidding with one Spade. West passes and North bids two Hearts. While the hand is strong from sheer length in the Heart suit alone, he should not make a forcing take-out of Three Hearts for the reason that partner can read such a bid to indicate distributed length, together with an invitation for a slam bid.

East passes and South, with a singleton Ace of Hearts in his hand, bids two No Trumps hoping that the three Diamonds to the J-9 may be enough, taken in conjunction with partner's possible holding in that suit, to enable him to establish at least one suit between the joint hands.

West passes and North now bids four Hearts, concluding the bidding. Since this is the game bid made without any preparatory slam bidding take-out, there could be no reason for South to disturb it.

Auction: The bidding is the same as in Contract, except that on the second round North bids three Hearts instead of four, as it is not necessary to bid for game.

THE PLAY

East opens the Queen of Spades, the top of his three-card sequence. Although South has bid his suit, the opening is preferable to the lead of the Ace of Clubs, or the lead away from the King of Diamonds.

South takes the trick with the Ace, and since Diamonds must be led twice from Dummy, the five of Diamonds is led at the second trick.

Another Spade lead forces Declarer to trump in own hand. He then enters the Dummy with the Ace of Hearts and leads the Jack of Diamonds. Since East took the first Diamond trick with the King, West's Queen is trapped. West must yet make his Queen of Hearts and East make his Ace of Clubs, but North will make four odd and game.

MARINE and TRANSPORTATION

Liner Northwestern Lost Rudder in Gulf of Alaska With Heavy Gale Blowing

SEATTLE, Nov. 6.—Favored by wind and tide, the disabled Alaska Steamship Company liner Northwestern was being towed today by two small boats to Dundas Bay, Cross Sound, in Southeastern Alaska, where she will be anchored until tugs arrive from here to bring her to drydock. The passengers will remain aboard the vessel until the arrival, next Wednesday, of the liner Alameda, which sails from Seattle on Saturday.

Captain C. A. Glasscock, master of the Northwestern, wirelessed company offices here that the gasboat Emma and the Seattle fishing boat Tordenskjold had taken the liner in tow and probably would be able to take her into Dundas Bay, a refuge in the past to several disabled ships.

LOST HER RUDDER

The Northwestern, carrying passengers for Cordova, La Touche and Seward, sent out SOS. signals this morning, when she lost her rudder two miles off Cape Spencer, off Icy Straits.

The coastguard cutter Haida was due at the scene of the accident tomorrow morning.

The Northwestern, a steel and iron vessel of 1,949 net tons, 336 feet long and built in 1889, sent out a distress signal at 6:27 o'clock this morning. She sailed from here Saturday for Southeastern Alaska ports and had touched at Ketchikan and Juneau. At the time of the accident, she was outbound from Juneau through Icy Straits for Cordova.

HELPLESS IN SEAS

Captain A. Glasscock, commanding the vessel, reported she was helpless in heavy seas in the Gulf of Alaska, which is notoriously rough.

F. B. Tracy, superintendent of the Alaska Steamship Company, said tugs would be sent from Seattle to bring the Northwestern to drydock here.

EXPECTED SATURDAY

From the United Kingdom via Panama and California ports, the Furness Line ship Pacific Grove, Captain J. Anderson, is due at Rithet Piers on Saturday, having left San Francisco at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, according to advices received by King Brothers, local agents of the shipping company.

The Pacific Grove has general cargo for discharge here, and will proceed to Vancouver after unloading. For Victoria there is one passenger, Miss E. L. Grant, and for Vancouver four, Mrs. J. Ironsides, and the Misses Moffatt, Montgomery and Stewart.

Captain Anderson, the skipper of the Grove, is well known in Victoria and North Pacific ports, having called here a number of times, and was the first captain to bring a Furness Line ship to this port, arriving here with the London Merchant.

FLOATED UNDAMAGED

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6. — The Union Steamship Company steamer Lady Cynthia was refloated yesterday afternoon, less than twenty-four hours after she ran aground on Mission Point near Seechelt in dense fog Monday.

The ship has resumed her voyage up the coast, carrying the passengers who were disembarked in Seechelt after the accident.

Officials here say the ship was not damaged as she rested on sand and shingle. The Pacific Salvage Company craft assisted in refloating the Lady Cynthia.

Ladysmith and Comox Coal Are Tried in Tests

FOLLOWING up the tests with Vancouver Island coal on the especially equipped locomotive of the E. & N. Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which were made Tuesday night, the train went out again on Wednesday night, returning to the yard at 12:30 o'clock Thursday morning. On Tuesday night Ladysmith coal was tested, and on Wednesday night Comox coal. The railway company is making thorough tests in an effort to utilize Vancouver Island coal. Whether any further tests will be made before the coal commission sits was not known at the local offices of the transportation company yesterday.

FIGURES SHORT OF REAL STORY

Canadian Pacific Chairman Puts Canadian National President Right

AMOUNT OF TAXES PAID

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—"The figures quoted by the president of the Canadian National Railways in respect of taxes paid by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company during the years 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929, fall very short of telling the whole story," said Mr. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in commenting on the taxation references of Sir Henry Thornton in his address before the Toronto Board of Trade Club on Monday night last.

"It was stated by the speaker," Mr. Beatty continued, "that the Federal, provincial and municipal taxes paid by the Canadian National during these four years amounted to $18,709,000, or an amount only $3,000,000 less than that paid by the Canadian Pacific. While it may be possible that the figures quoted were intended to be confined to taxes paid in respect of railway operations only, the fact is that during this period the Canadian Pacific actually paid in taxes of all classes over $31,400,000, or approximately $12,500,000, instead of $3,000,000 more than the figures given for the Canadian National.

"The actual difference in the Canadian taxation is, therefore, very marked. The published figures of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the taxes paid in connection with rail operations in Canada were: Canadian Pacific, $21,855,000; Canadian National, $13,615,000. The Canadian National has a greater mileage in Canada by 6,700 miles. The Canadian taxes per mile of line for each system (rail operations only) are: Canadian Pacific, $384.81 per mile, and Canadian National, $170.18 per mile, excluding Eastern lines, which extend east of Quebec into the Maritimes, or $182.32 per mile, including Eastern lines. Since the inception of the Federal income tax (1916), the Canadian Pacific has paid on this account alone $25,471,197. I have never heard it suggested that the Canadian National Railways do not pay provincial or municipal taxes, though their Federal taxes must aggregate very little."

JAMES BAY RESIDENTS PETITION DEPARTMENT

In an effort to have the Department of Marine at Ottawa reconsider its decision in connection with the refusal to grant foreshore rights to three city lots at the foot of Erie Street for use as a seaplane base by the Pacific International Airways, Limited, a petition is being circulated in the James Bay District.

Paul Lambert, who has charge of the petition, stated yesterday that over 150 signatures had been obtained and all of those in James Bay. Only four of the number canvassed, refused to sign, Mr. Lambert stated.

EMMA ALEXANDER IN

Running on time, the Pacific Steamship Company's Ss. Emma Alexander, Captain G. A. Harris, berthed at Rithet Piers at 11 o'clock last night from California ports, with a small passenger list for Victoria and an average complement of freight. The trip up the coast was uneventful. The liner left for Seattle shortly after midnight, and will return here Sunday morning on her way South.

Marble Pool on Palatial Liner

LIGHTERED CARGO TO RELEASE SHIP

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 6.—Six tugs, taking advantage of high tide last night, floated the W. R. Grace liner Charcas from a shelving ledge just off Point Firmin.

Success crowned the third effort of the salvagers. The ship went aground in the morning in a heavy fog and made its plight known through radio. Two attempts were made to float it, then lightering the cargo was resorted to.

The Charcas was bound from Seattle and San Francisco for South America, and was to make a cargo call here.

After it slid off the ledge into deep water, the Charcas proceeded under its own power into port.

Aorangi in With Small List—Brought 6,000 Boxes of Butter for Eastern Firms

Inbound from Sydney via Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, the Canadian-Australasian liner Ms. Aorangi arrived at William Head at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning, proceeded to Royal Roads, where she remained at anchor until 10:45, when the tug lifting the ship came alongside Rithet Piers, docking at 11:30.

Officers of the Aorangi reported a fine passage from the Southern Seas. The passenger list was light, there being 118 travelers in all classes aboard, of whom 42 traveled first class, 37 second and 39 third. Prominent passengers were His Excellency the Governor-General of Australia, Lord Stonehaven, who, with Lady Stonehaven and their daughters, the Hon. Ariel and the Hon. Ava F. N. Baird, left the ship here for a visit at Government House, Commander L. W. Murray and A. M. D. Fairbairn, representing Lieutenant-Governor Bruce, meeting the party on the ship's arrival and accompanying them to Government House.

Other passengers on the Aorangi included Colonel J. Sevier, who was in command of the United States Army battalion stationed at Honolulu, proceeding to Nebraska, where he has been transferred; K. Felzman, representing the Dye Trusts of Germany, returning there after a business visit to Australia; S. L. P. Free, a magistrate from New Zealand, en route to England; G. Foley, of General Motors, New York, returning home after a business tour of Australia; Ensign and Mrs. G. S. Arndt, of Seoul, Korea. Salvation Army workers on furlough, going to New York, and P. S. Woo, a prominent Chinese chemist, of Honolulu, going to Seattle for medical attention, and who was met at the boat by the Chinese Vice-Consul from Seattle.

The ship had 2,000 tons of general cargo aboard. There was some butter routed East, consisting of 6,000 boxes in all, in quantity just about a quarter of the amount the liners from the South have averaged over a long period.

Allow Pensions For Dependents Of Air Disaster

LONDON, Nov. 6. — The British Government will pay compensation to the dependents of victims of the crash of the airship R-101, on October 5, Frederick Montagu, Under-Secretary for Air, announced in the House of Commons today. The pensions will vary from £150, with a gratuity of £450, plus £24 annually on account of each child, to pensions of twenty-two shillings weekly, plus five shillings weekly for each child. These apply to dependents of the airship's officers and men.

Testimony Reveals That India Voyage of Giant Dirigible Was Hurried

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Lord Christopher Thomson, Air Minister, who lost his life in the crash of the dirigible R-101, was convinced that the big ship was ready for her first long flight, and it was he who hastened preparations for her departure on her last tragic voyage, Air Ministry officials testified today at the inquiry into the dirigible's loss.

The trend of the questions indicated that the board of inquiry was anxious to establish whether the projected voyage to India had begun before proper tests of the craft were made.

WORK PUSHED

Sir John Higgins, air vice-marshal, and Sir Walter Nicholson, secretary to the Air Ministry, said work on the craft had been pushed along to meet Lord Thomson's desire for an early flight, but that experts were agreed the dirigible was fit when she started.

Sir John Simon, who is presiding, read a memorandum from Lord Thomson to Sir John Higgins, dated July 14, in which the Air Minister had indicated his eagerness to begin the flight. The vice-marshal said the note had resulted in hastening preparations, but that work on the ship was not hurried to such an extent as to make the craft unfit for the trip.

CREATED SENSATION

Hugh Dowding, a vice-marshal of the Air Ministry, created a sensation today at the inquiry into the R-101 disaster by testifying that he had ordered a full power trial as soon as possible after the dirigible had left her mooring mast on the Indian voyage, but that his instructions were not obeyed.

The ship had never had a full power trial, he said, and he had issued his order as a safeguard, figuring that, if anything went wrong on the trial, the R-101 could immediately turn back to England.

DEPARTURE HURRIED

Sir John Simon shot innumerable questions at the witness to determine whether the airship was rushed away on her voyage without proper preparation, because of Lord Thomson's desire to start on October 4.

All the witnesses agreed that the departure was hurried, but all, except Mr. Dowding, said they believed the dirigible was fit.

Vice-Marshal Dowding said he had given his instructions verbally to Wing Commander Colmore, who perished in the crash.

It was also brought out that Lord Thomson, the Air Minister, who also was killed, had issued a certificate of air worthiness without a formal written report on the one trial to which the dirigible had been submitted.

Before the certificate was issued there was a final inspection which took two men about two hours. The ship started for India before these inspectors had time to make a formal written report.

PLOT ALLEGED

Scotland Yard is investigating statements made by a man concerning an alleged plot to wreck the huge dirigible R-101, which crashed near Beauvais, France, October 5.

The man stated that while he was traveling on a train between London and Southend he overheard a conversation among three men about the plot. The conversation was on the day prior to the dirigible's fatal flight.

No further details of the alleged plot were revealed today.

REPAIRS NECESSARY TO FOG CASUALTIES

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—The Canadian National tugboat No. 3, formerly the Harbor Board tug St. Catherines, is at B.C. Marine ways for repair of damages received in an accident in Active Pass in the fog, Monday night. The vessel grounded on Kelp Reef while proceeding with a barge which swung down on the stranded tug and crushed her superstructure on one side.

The North Vancouver ferry, which grounded last evening on the fill of the Canadian National dock, recently destroyed by fire, was refloated early this morning. The ferry was only slightly damaged, and is now at North Vancouver undergoing repairs and will likely resume her run this afternoon.

Transatlantic Flyers Chat With Prince of Wales

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Captain Errol Boyd and Lieutenant Harry P. Connor were received by the Prince of Wales at York House today. "The Prince gave us a marvelous little time," Captain Boyd said. "We were with him talking probably for forty minutes. Mostly he discussed aviation. He seems to know a great deal about flying. He mentioned the German DO-X, and seemed very interested in the possibilities of future development along this line. We gave some impressions of our transatlantic flight, about which he asked a lot of questions."

The Prince also spoke of his forthcoming trip to South America, to which he said he was looking forward immensely.

The Other Bullet

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

CHAPTER XXXIV

Bossy's engine was skipping a beat. But then, it was seldom that all of Bossy's six cylinders functioned simultaneously, and to Peter the recurrent chug of the defective valve was a companionable sound. Bossy was talking to Peter, and when Bossy talked, Peter listened.

The rhythmic knocking of the engine as he drove back from San Quentin repeated over and over the terms of a syllogism that defied logic. If a thing was really impossible, it couldn't have happened.

Yet Peter faced two mutually exclusive sets of facts, both of which he was forced to believe. He knew that Andrews' prints were photographs of Mortison. He knew that Mortison had been shot a month ago.

Unless Aline Everett had fabricated an elaborate and motiveless lie about the ring—and in that case, how had she ever known of its existence?—the ring in his pocket had been stolen from the Chinese box in Mortison's room.

But Callahan had recognized the photograph as the face of Jerome de la Montanya, who had been dead eleven years. And the ring had lain in his deposit box until he gave it to Fitzgerald.

Callahan must have told the truth. In the first place, his manner carried absolute conviction. He was incapable of any triumph of acting that would deceive Peter's trained observation.

He was also incapable of inventing his story—and he had no motive for inventing it, even if he had the creative imagination.

"Hum-hum-biff-hum-hum-biff!" rattled Bossy. It couldn't be, and it was! It couldn't be, and it was!

Briefly Peter considered the idea that Callahan might be self-deceived. Suppose his weird yarn was the product of a brain disordered by drugs. But Peter knew the signs of drug addiction, and Callahan was no "hop-head." Callahan's story must be believed. The evidence of Peter's own senses must be believed.

"The initials are the same! The face is the same! The ring is the same!" The words plunged from Bossy's engine to Peter's mind. But the time, the place, the circumstances, were irreconcilably different. Irreconcilably? Well, they couldn't be, that was flat. Either one of those stories was false, or else there was some way of reconciling them.

Peter honked his horn for no other reason than to send the disreputable Bossy a greeting. That was the point! There was no use dwelling on the contradictions in the two stories. Either one was false or both were true. And if both were true, there must be some way to reconcile them. A man couldn't be killed twice, ten years apart. He couldn't be killed twice—

"Got it!" Peter shouted aloud as he whirled into The Herald parking lot.

The night watchman thrust his head out from his sentry box at the entrance to the yard.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" he said. "Well, you do make a lot of noise. And your valves need grinding and your radiator is boiling."

"That little old car can do everything but talk—and she's pretty nearly talked tonight," Peter answered jubilantly. "Of course her radiator's sputtering—she's been doing some heavy thinking!"

The night watchman held a long-considered and sometimes expressed opinion that Peter was "crazy in the head."

"That bus is going to fall apart some day and land you in the ditch," he growled.

But Peter, with a backward wave of his hand, was already disappearing through the rear entrance of The Herald building. His whistle echoed merrily through the deserted local room as he felt for a droplight.

A man couldn't be killed twice. Well, Mortison was dead now all right, with two bullet holes in him. Therefore he couldn't have been dead the first time. There were no bullet holes then, Callahan had said. It was wild and improbable enough, but it was the only explanation. And that would account for the initials. Jerome de la Montanya had somehow recovered and disappeared, to live eleven years longer as Don Mortison. And that eleven-year-old story must be on file in The Herald morgue.

Ho-oo-oo, hu-hu-hu-hoo!" For once, Peter was allowed to whistle his pet tune round and round in an endless circle without interruption. He turned on the light in the library, made his way past the end of the stacks, and faced the rows of filing boxes which covered the wall space from wall to ceiling. His fingers were black with dust when he finally emerged with a handful of clippings headed "De la Montanya."

A dry, tickling smell rose from the paper, already yellowing at the edges. Peter held the thick bundle of clippings almost reverently. With one of rare moments on conscious insight, he saw the empty local room, with its shrouded typewriters and battered desks, as one of the most romantic places in the world. The ghosts of old stories walked there, the drifting shadows of forgotten turbulance, the ashes of heroic and passionate and tragic hours, settling to dust in the files of the morgue.

Somebody, long before Peter's time, had covered the de la Montanya story for The Herald, and had left him this anonymous legacy. Someone had rushed to catch a long-past deadline for some other Jimmy. Only The Herald local room remained through it all, listening to their curses, taking their best and giving them—well, giving them grueling discipline and disappointment, but giving them now and then a high moment, such a moment as Peter was having now, when he knew that those yellow-margined clippings would give him the clue to another great story.

"Good luck to you, old scout, whoever you were—wherever you are," Peter murmured salute to his unknown collaborator. Then, ashamed of his own sentiment, he sat down at his desk, adjusted the green-shaded light, and with a pad of copy paper before him began to sort the clippings. Some he laid aside, face downward. Others he read swiftly, then slowly and carefully, jotting down notes. Suddenly he leaned back in his chair, staring at the lampshade with a non-plussed frown.

"Well, I'll—be—darned," he announced to an unlistening universe.

There was no doubt about it—de la Montanya had died that night eleven years ago. And the face that looked out at him from the smudgy reproduction of a blurred photograph would have been the face of Mortison eleven years ago. Peter reassorted the clippings and read them again from beginning to end.

A man of large affairs—old and prominent family—mother prostrated with grief. The body was found by the chauffeur, who had been aroused by some indeterminate sound. Except for the mother and a cousin, Miss Maria de la Montanya, a pensioner of the family, the chauffeur had been alone in the house with his master. Peter jotted down his name—Joseph Lynn. It was the chauffeur who given the alarm.

He was dead all right for the next day's story announced that Joseph Lynn was being held for the murder. De la Montanya had been killed by a blow on the head from "a blunt instrument." Wouldn't some bright newspaper man sometime find a synonym for that overworked phrase? In the golf bag in the corner of the room, the police had found a midiron with a hair of the dead man, gummed in a smear of blood, on the metal. Lynn's fingerprints were on the handle of the club.

Lynn insisted that he had come downstairs at twenty minutes before two, but the alarm had not been turned in until two o'clock. He accounted for the delay by saying that he had gone to the back of the house to telephone from the pantry, and had had difficulty in getting the connection. When asked why he did not use the telephone instrument in the room where he had found his master, he said that he had not thought of it. He was accustomed to using the pantry telephone; he was dazed and upset, and had followed his established habit without thinking.

"Well, that's natural enough," Peter murmured. "But of course the police wouldn't take a little thing like psychology into consideration."

There followed "Chauffeur's Strange Statement—Saw Ghost of Murdered Man, He Alleges," in heavy type.

He had come down the stairs in his bare feet. He could not tell what sound it was that had awakened him, but he had stumbled out of bed to investigate, still half drugged with sleep. He could not even swear that he had heard anything. At the foot of the stairs he had seen a light shining through the portieres that divided the hall from the library. He heard no further sound, but as he looked across the hall, he saw the reflection of his master's face rise from the level of the table and pass across the mirror above the mantel. He had waited a moment wondering if it had been his master whom he had heard, and considering the advisability of going back to bed again. However, he decided to go in and ask de la Montanya if he had heard anything.

He had found de la Montanya lying on the floor by the table. The golf club was close beside him. He was puzzled, as he was sure that he had just seen his master's face in the mirror over the mantel piece. And why had he been swinging a golf club at that time of night?

Mr. de la Montanya was very particular about his clubs. Lynn had automatically picked up the club and put it back in the bag. He could not say why he had done this. It was just habit. When he saw the glub, he picked it up and put it away. He hadn't thought about it as disarranging evidence—he hadn't thought about it at all.

It occurred to him that his master might have had some sort of fit. He even thought he himself might be dreaming—it was all so queer. It was a warm night, and the window was open. He stood in the window for a moment, and the night air cleared his head. When he turned back into the room he was fully awake, and when he felt de la Montanya's pulse, he knew that he was dead. He had gone to the pantry, and after some difficulty with the operator, had given the alarm.

This was Lynn's story, from which he could not be made to deviate.

"So help me God," it ended, "I saw the man's soul leave his body. It was his soul that I saw rise in the mirror. His soul passed out through the open window. I saw it!"

"Good work!" Peter paid his tribute to the man who eleven years ago had quoted those words verbatim in The Herald. They had the ring of authentic utterance. They came to Peter across the years, with their vibration of terror.

"New Evidence Against Chauffeur," the next headlines read. The police had received an anonymous note bidding them "look for the missing ring and the money." Mrs. de la Montanya was too ill to be questioned, but her cousin, who had been a member of the household for many years, declared that de la Montanya always wore a signet ring, set with emeralds, the gift of his mother on his sixteenth birthday.

The ring had vanished, but in the chauffeur's trunk was found a leather wallet bearing the initials J. de la M. and containing several hundred dollars. Lynn declared that the wallet was an old one which had been given him by his master, and that the money represented his own savings. The police had been able to find no trace of the sender of the note.

"Hm! I wonder now—was Saw-Tooth Mike trying to double cross Callahan? Or did the murderer crouch outside the window, see the robbery, and fasten upon it as a chance to shift the blame to Callahan's shoulders? But why not leave well enough alone? The evidence already pointed to Lynn," Peter addressed the massed shadows of the local room. "If Lynn himself knew of the robbery, he'd have said so—unless Lynn and Callahan were confederates. But, that's out. Callahan really did find the corpse exactly as he said he did."

The clippings on Lynn's trial were fairly brief. The case of the prosecution rested on the robbery motive. It was not a cleverly constructed crime. Lynn had slipped in upon his master alone and had killed him. He was familiar with the house, and knew that Mrs. and Miss de la Montanya slept in distant rooms and would not be awakened by a slight disturbance. He had opened the window in order to give the impression that it was an outside job, had gone upstairs and hidden the money, and then had given the alarm.

The defence had been unable to break this chain of circumstantial evidence. The best they could do was to plead temporary insanity, based upon Lynn's "ghost story," to which he stuck through all the ridicule heaped upon it in cross-examination. For obviously no other reason than the non-legal mind's distrust of circumstantial evidence, the jury had let him off with life imprisonment.

"And that," Peter mused, refolding the clippings and restoring them to the manila envelope, "is that. Only there are lumps in it. Two lumps. One is that note to the police, which they accepted as manna from heaven and let it go at that. The other is Lynn's story of the ghost. Nobody would tell a story unbelievable on its face unless he believed it. He was probably half asleep and didn't see anything—or at least not what he thought he saw. But whatever it was, he actually did think he saw it."

A single clipping remained, which Peter had laid to one side. It was pasted on a slip of a different color from that of the others, and the date stamped at the top was three years later. It announced the probating of the will of Mrs. J. de la Montanya.

"Mrs. de la Montanya has been a recluse since the tragic death, three years ago, of her son, Jerome," Peter read. "A strange provision of the will is the bequest of the de la Montanya mansion in Piedmont, together with a life income, to 'my faithful friend and cousin, Maria de la Montanya, on condition that she live there continuously and keep the house at all times open for the reception of my beloved son, David de la Montanya, in case he should return.'

"Miss de la Montanya, sole surviving member of the de la Montanya family, when interviewed today, said that she would not contest the terms of the will, despite indications that grief over the murder of her son Jerome may have affected the deceased's mind. David de la Montanya, the other son mentioned in the will, has been dead several years. Mrs. de la Montanya has recently been deeply interested in spiritualism, her cousin declared."

Peter leafed rapidly through the later clippings, which he had discarded at the beginning of his search.

"Well, it looks as if Martha still remains in the land of the living," he commented. "I think I'll have to call on her. There's got to be a point where these two yarns meet. If the old lady can throw any light on it, I certainly will give her my blessing."

Peter returned the clippings to their box in the files, and then, balancing on one foot from the top of a small stepladder, reached sidewise to a box marked "Lu-Ly" and shuffled through its contents.

"He'd be eligible for parole after ten years," he muttered. "Let's see what happened to him. Here we are!"

The clipping was brief, and Peter sat on the top of the stepladder while he read it through.

"The Board of Prison Directors yesterday granted the application for parole of Joseph Lynn, convicted of first degree murder. Lynn was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1919 for murder of Jerome de la Montanya, by whom he was employed as chauffeur. Lynn has steadfastly maintained his innocence of the crime of which he was convicted. He has been a model prisoner, and his good behavior and excellent record previous to the Montanya slaying were taken into account by the prison board in granting his parole."

"Now I wonder if he's been seeing any more ghosts. He might be worth looking up. I'd sure like to know a little more about friend Jerome's soul. It does seem to have such a way of moving about. When it comes to this, maybe Cousin Maria can be a help."

As Peter climbed down from the stepladder the big clock on The Herald Tower struck ten.

"Maybe I'd better get a bite to eat," he said as he turned out the lights. Not until that moment had it occurred to him that he had skipped lunch and forgotten dinner. "I might as well," he decided. "I can't barge in on Cousin Maria until morning, anyway."

HELD ON REMAND FOR PRACTISING FRAUD

Charged with obtaining food at a local cafe with no money to pay the bill, two young men were charged in the city police court yesterday with committing a fraudulent act. They were remanded until today by Police Magistrate Jay.

The first gave his age as eighteen. He said he was born in England and had come to the coast from the prairies. His parents were dead, he said. He expressed a desire to join the navy. The other was older and had come from the prairies a few years ago and had been around Vancouver since.

Evidence indicated that the accused had shot Best while the latter was playing cards with Mrs. A[illegible] on the night of February 18, 1930.

CRITICISM IS VOICED AT COST OF SCHOOLS

C. T. Cudmore was elected president of Ward Four Saanich Ratepayers' Association at a meeting held on Wednesday evening.

At the meeting the criticism was voiced that school expenses had risen considerably since the school board had engaged a municipal inspector of schools.

England-Gibraltar air service is under consideration.

W. CROUCH WILL SEEK ELECTION TO REEVESHIP

States He Will Ask Vindication at Hands of Saanich Electorate

EXPLAINS REASON FOR RECENT RESIGNATION

In announcing his candidature for re-election as reeve of Saanich, William Crouch stated yesterday that he had seriously thought of retiring from the reeveship at the end of his fourth year in office.

He has, however, received an overwhelming number of letters and telephone calls asking him to allow his name to go before the electors again.

Mr. Crouch stated that his reason for tendering his resignation as reeve some weeks ago, was because of criticism regarding his use of municipal gasoline. He had paid for all gasoline used for his car upon municipal business, and drew attention to the fact that, during the past twenty months, he had been buying gasoline from the municipality, paying it the sum of $262. All of this gasoline had been used in the service of the municipality.

During his four-year term as reeve he had traveled nearly 40,000 miles in his own car on municipal business, and, during the whole of that period, had never taken a gallon of gasoline or a pint of oil from the municipality which had not been paid for. This, he considered was a record of which to be proud.

"If I am re-elected as reeve," said Mr. Crouch, "I will look upon it as a vote of confidence on the part of the electors, but I would definitely retire from the position of reeve at the end of 1931. This does not mean that I should give up municipal public life, as I should seek a seat on the council or the school board."

Former Constable to Be Sentenced Today

DAUPHIN, Man., Nov. 6.—Joseph Pirt, former Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable, found guilty of manslaughter in connection with the shooting to death of Mrs. Sophie Light, of Ipswich, N.D., will be sentenced tomorrow. When court opened today his Lordship Chief Justice MacDonald announced his decision to pronounce sentence tomorrow as he wished more time to consider the case.

Mrs. Light was shot to death at an inter-provincial picnic near Roblin, Man., on September 1, last. Pirt was tried on a charge of murder, but the jury, after one hour's deliberation yesterday, returned a verdict of "guilty of manslaughter." Several witnesses testified during Pirt's trial, including a fellow constable.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MEASURING THE POWER OF YOUR HEART

I often talk about the heart as a pump made entirely of a muscle. It is the power of strength of that muscle that tells the condition of the circulation of the blood. And your blood stream is really your life stream.

As you know there are various tests as to the ability or strength of the heart.

One test is to have the patient take some exercise which speeds up the heart beat and then see how long it takes for the heart to come back to its normal rate.

Another test is holding the breath for a certain period of time. Another is by the use of electro cardiograph which actually makes a tracing of the action of the heart.

And now another test which may come into more general use. This is the measuring of the length of time it takes a drop of blood to go from one definite part of the body to another part.

This test was recently put on a practical basis by two French research physicians.

They inject a fluid into a vein at the elbow which gives a glow in a dark background, and then puncture the vein at the same place in both arms. The blood is collected in twelve small tubes at 10, 20, 30, 40, and so on up to 180 seconds after the injection. The blood is then examined for the first sign of the glow.

The speed of circulation in a normal person is thirty seconds between the two upper limbs.

This figure was obtained in a healthy subject and in seven patients without heart disease. They applied the test also in twenty-five heart patients.

When the heart muscle was affected and was not doing its work properly, the length of time taken by the circulation from one arm to the other was much longer than thirty seconds, in fact these physicians report as high as 150 seconds.

Another thing that was most interesting was that the test showed a delay or slowness of circulation in a patient who wasn't suspected of having heart ailment, but it really existed in an early form.

Certain drugs were shown to give the heart enough stimulation so that if the circulation was a little slow it was brought up to the thirty seconds.

Now you can see how useful this information is going to be to patient and physician. It shows just how far below normal the power of the heart actually is; how the heart responds to certain drugs; whether the heart is improving or failing when test is made from time to time, and enables the physician to give the patient or family an idea as to the probable outcome of the condition.

WOOD-CUTTING CAMP INSPECTED BY MAYOR

His Worship and Alderman Mara Make Surprise Visit to Waugh Creek Work

On an unofficial tour of inspection, Mayor Anscomb and Alderman Mara paid a visit to the city cordwood cutting camp at Waugh Creek yesterday morning. On their return to the city they expressed themselves as satisfied with the operation of the camp and the arrangements made for the comfort of the men. "The meals are exceptionally good, the Mayor stated, and the men appear to be taking to the work, although some of them who are not used to heavy labor are finding the task a hard one."

The Mayor stated the men had some minor complaints, which were listened to which would be adjusted. Mayor Anscomb said he believed the men would average about a cord of wood a day, which, at $2 a cord and $1 for keep, would give the workers a dollar a day clear. Some men, he said, would make more and some less. In some places the wood is scattered and that will tend to decrease the output.

The camp was opened last Monday morning when fifty men of the single unemployed went to work. Another relay of fifty men will go to the camp at the coming week-end. The camp is being conducted by the city without relation to the Federal aid fund.

"Stop reaching across the table, junior! Haven't you a tongue?"

"Yes, sir, but my arm is longer."

SAYS GERMANY MUST UNDERSELL MARKETS

Address of Industrialist Taken as Threat That Goods May Be Dumped

By BJORN BUNKHOLDT
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 6.—Coincident with the Norwegian Government's presentation to Denmark, Sweden and the Netherlands of a proposal for tariff peace, a director for the German Industries Association, Dr. Kastl, delivered an address before the Norwegian Industries Association today in which he said that "this year Germany for the first time is able to pay her reparations without borrowing abroad.

"To maintain our commercial balance," Dr. Kastl continued, "we shall have to reduce all production costs, thereby enabling us to sell cheaper than our creditors. We regret to say that our policy of export is inevitable and will hit also the countries which remained neutral during the war and afterward were friendly toward us. In short, all countries will more or less in a steadily increasing force, feel Germany's competition on the world's markets. This is a result of the way in which reparations payments are being demanded."

Dr. Kastl's address is considered in leading commercial circles here as a veiled threat of dumping in all of Europe.

O. G. WILLIAMS KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

AKRON, O., Nov. 6.—Orva G. Williams, Sr., sixty-five, of Chicago, nationally known advertising man and former president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, was killed in an automobile collision here last night.

J. A. Stewart, of Akron, whose automobile collided with Williams, was charged with manslaughter for alleged failure to stop for a boulevard and was bound to the grand jury under $5,000 bond.

CANADIANS' INTEREST IN LEAGUE HAS EBBED

Sir George Foster Suggests Intensive Speaking Campaign—Predicts Lower Income

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Apathy towards the League of Nations is at the present time very apparent in Canada, in the opinion of Sir George Foster. At a meeting here of the central executive of the League of Nations Society of Canada, Sir George declared he had gained this impression in traveling over the Dominion last Summer.

The Dominion Government was apparently going to be up against a big problem in preparing its budget next year owing to prevailing conditions, Sir George told the executive, and he added the opinion that the society could hardly look for any increase in the grant the Government makes for the carrying on of the society's work.

An intensive speaking campaign was one suggestion made as a means of reviving interest in the league and enlisting financial support. Sir George volunteered his services for a number of the meetings if decision is reached to appeal to the public in this manner.

The Weakening Agony of Piles (Haemorrhoids) Ended

Thousands Bless This Famous Herbal Ointment

Piles or haemorrhoids cause excruciating pain and often serious loss of blood. The famous Zam-Buk ointment is wonderfully soothing to the swollen veins and itching parts. Zam-Buk derives its healing and mildly astringent influence from herbal extracts of special value in this weakening and agonizing complaint. Zam-Buk has a wonderful record of success.

THE BEST OF PROOF

Mrs. R. L. Garber, of 2545 Ohio Avenue, Southgate, California, a nurse, writes as follows:—"My husband suffered from Piles for years, but a year ago they reached an acute stage and he could neither sleep nor attend his work. He had medical advice, tried all sorts of baths, hot packs, enemas and ointments which cost him hundreds of dollars without obtaining any relief. Finally a friend gave him a box of Zam-Buk; after application for one day he obtained a good night's rest. He continued the treatment and by the time he had finished a second box he was completely relieved of this agonizing ailment and able to resume his work."

Mrs. F. Barrett, Pioneer, Alberta, writes:—"We have used Zam-Buk ever since I was a young girl and I have never known it fail. My husband, who has been troubled with itching piles for years, says the soothing relief Zam-Buk brought was wonderful."

The unparalleled success of Zam-Buk lies in its original and valuable formula. Zam-Buk is compounded from certain herbal extracts of an extraordinarily healing, soothing and antiseptic nature. Zam-Buk soon stops all pain and itching. It gets at the root of such troubles as eczema, salt rheum, bad legs, ulcers, scalp disease, poisoned sores, etc., and is also a fine ever-ready first-aid for injuries. Afternoon Rally Follows Decline in Morning But Not All of Gain Is Held

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Irregularity replaced weakness on the stock market today. Generally speaking, prices declined in the morning and rallied in the afternoon, although all of the gain was not held, leaving the market mixed at the close.

The turnover of 2,466,690 shares was the largest in about a fortnight. Weakness of the utility stocks seemed the only development that could be called a carryover from the election. Virtually every imoprtant member of the group, including American Telephone, North American and Consolidated Gas, touched a new low.

Oils were soft. Standard of New Jersey and Atlantic Refining made new minimums.

Rails turned downward, particularly in the late trading, and there were new lows for Pennsylvania, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Railway and numerous others. Such industrial favorites as United States Steel, Westinghouse, and American Can showed quiet firmness and led the rally, although General Electric, Eastman Kodak and Dupont reached new lows on an early decline.

Net changes in stocks were small. United States Steel, Kennecott, International Nickel, Sears Roebuck, R.K.O., Fox, Gillette, National Biscuit and American Tobacco "B" closed up a point or more. American Telephone, Radio, Vanadium, Atchison, Dupont, General Electric and Westinghouse improved fractionally. There were declines of a point or less in Bethlehem Steel, Anaconda, American and Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, Columbia Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, Standard Oil of New Jersey, American Power & Light, Pennsylvania Railroad and Baltimore & Ohio. Southern Railway lost 2 1-2, New York Central, 1 3-4, and Union Pacific, 2. A few less active rails had larger losses.

A slightly lower trend dominated the dull session of the bond market today. Selling was moderate but rather widespread and was particularly noticeable in the rail group.

DECLINE IS RECORDED IN WHOLESALE PRICES

Dominion Bureau of Statistics Publishes Report for Month of October—Index Numbers

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics' index number of wholesale prices (1926 equals 100), fell from 82.5 in September to 81.4 in October, a drop of 1.1 points as compared with a drop of 1.6 points in September and 1.7 in August. Fifty-one quotations were higher, 137 lower, while 314 remained unchanged.

Vegetable products moved down from 70.4 to 67.6, because of lower prices for barley, flax, oats, rye, wheat, corn, flour and rubber.

Animals and their products rose from 93.8 to 95.8, owing to gains by canned fish, eggs, butter, fresh milk, steers and calves, which influenced the index more than losses by hogs, hides and sole leather.

Fibres, textiles and textile products dropped from 79.2 to 77.5, due chiefly to reductions in the prices of raw silk, raw cotton, cottonades, denim, ginghams and raw wool.

Wood products and paper fell from 86.2 to 85.6, influenced by easier prices for fir drop siding and sulphite pulp.

Iron and its products moved down from 90.5 to 90.1, largely on account of reduced quotations for pig iron, steel billets and tinplate.

Non-ferrous metals and their products declined from 73.7 to 70.5, lower prices obtaining for electrolytic copper, imported copper wire bars, solid bar copper wire, lead, zinc and silver. Non-metallic minerals remained unchanged at 90.8.

Chemicals and allied products moved from 92.0 to 91.5, because of easier prices for quebracho extract, hemlock extract, shellac, litharge and carbon black.

Fifty-Year-Old Gold Mine Going Better Than Ever

(Meharey, Roe & Co., Ltd.)

The flourishing state of gold mining in Canada has been commented upon quite frequently in recent issues of Canadian financial papers.

While gold mining is perhaps at its finest flower in Ontario, it is flourishing elsewhere, too. Take, for instance, Homestake Mining Company, of South Dakota, which has been paying dividends for fifty years steadily. During most of its life, gold extraction at Homestake has averaged slightly above $4 per ton. The main orebody on the upper levels is 35) feet wide, and at the lower levels is from 150 to 250 feet. The bottom level [illegible] 2,600. The grade on the two lower levels has shown a very decided jump, and the mixing of new ore with the lower grade reserves of the older parts of the mine has increased the mill grade, and it is expected that by the year-end recovery should be up to $6 or $7, with perhaps better a little later on. Costs have always been very low, between $2 and $3 per ton most years.

Dividends have latterly been 50c a month, with $1 per share bonus at Christmas. This year an extra dollar was paid with the October dividend and it is rumored that large shareholders anticipate distribution of 75c monthly, with more frequent bonuses. Some people are talking earnings of $17 and $18 per share yearly. It is pointed out that the company had $4,250,000 cash the first of the year and at October 1 cash had increased to $6,500,000. It is figured out that earnings in the nine months must have been in excess of $12 a share. There are approximately 252,000 shares of Homestake issued, over half of the shares being tied up in the Hearst estate. Money from this gold mine assisted in building up the great newspaper chain controlled by William Randolph Hearst.

The stock is listed on the New York Curb, and because of few transactions and little stock loose, moves in a wide range.

Until Porcupine and Kirkland Lake mines came along and displaced it, Homestake was the largest gold mine on the continent. However, it is an exceptional property, and its long life, added to by many years by recent developments, attests the capabilities of a solid gold mine. One of these capabilities seems to be the surprising of owners, after fifty years of life, with higher grade discoveries at depth.

BETTER UNDERTONE IN CHICAGO MARKET SEEN

Prices Snap Back From Dips—Bearish Features Apparently Have Been Discounted

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The market for wheat was rather narrow and nervous today, but there has been a better undertone, and the market has snapped back from the setbacks in response to a broader commission house demand. Absorption of the May has been a little more impressive and the market acted as if the bearish features had been pretty well discounted.

Rust reports from Argentina suggested more concern, conditions being unfavorable in Cordoba, large shipments from Russia, 5,040,000 bushels, had no sustained influences. World's available stocks, according to Bradstreet's, decreased 2,009,000 bushels, against a gain of 6,446,000 a year ago, a showing which indicates more rapid disappearance of wheat than last season.

Primary receipts are liberal, 1,346,000 bushels, against 743,000 bushels last year. Cash demand here was fair and there is no great pressure on the spot markets, while all indications suggest a heavy consumption of wheat on the farms.

Foreign news, outside of possible rust damage in Argentina, was not specially encouraging, but for all that, there is reason to believe the consumption abroad is very heavy as well as in this country. At the price level the investment demand for wheat is likely to broaden with any evidence that prices will hold.

On the dips corn met good support with a sharp rally in the late trade. Many feel that the movement of new corn has been discounted at least to a great extent and the crop shortage will be effective in the long run. Prices are down to a level where purchases at least for quick turns seem advisable on the sharp dips. Primary receipts were 889,000 versus 439,000. Weather is fine.

Oats showed a better tone, with a good rally from the low points. Think the market is now in a strong technical position, affording opportunities for good trading turns if bought on the setbacks.

Rye was stronger when wheat showed firmness, and there was no great pressure at any time. On dips at this level purchases are suggested.

Whitney Says Rally Is Not Real Recovery

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Whitney, of Wall Street Financial Bureau, says:

Nothing has happened to alter as yet the prospective market action of the near future repeatedly discussed, except possibly the fact that certain groups of stocks appeared yesterday to be a trifle oversold and subject to technical rally, the extent and duration of which does not, in my opinion, warrant any purchases.

Despite this rallying tendency in some parts of the list, a considerable effort was required on the part of utilities and oils to get themselves off of their lows of the day, their sluggishness and failure to respond to the rally elsewhere indicating that they are neither oversold, nor has their liquidation been completed.

It would obviously be ridiculous to say that in the present market a rally is impossible, and it must of necessity be admitted that stocks become temporarily oversold. What I do feel, however, is that such purely technical conditions are not substantial enough in effect to warrant the purchase of issues, at least in so far as the present day-to-day situation is concerned.

Yesterday's closing carried the industrials up less than a full point in the averages from the previous night, and considering that the day before accounted for fractionally over a five-point drop, can only point out that a rally of one-fifth does not constitute even a good recovery. What is more important is that the rail averages utilized yesterday to quietly slip into a new low which, according to the Dow Jones theory, gives us a confirmation within one day of Wednesday's new low in the industrials, and infers a continuance of the general market down-trend. The successful operation of this theory has weathered over a quarter of a century of markets, and while we may well be nearing a level where this and other market indicators will show a turn, neither it nor the others point to any reversal at the moment.

Brokers' loans are of little more importance at the present time than they have been in recent weeks, as, in combination with Federal Reserve member loans on securities, they will appear to have the biggest part of another billion dollars to go before they are reduced to a position where they occupy a sound relationship with the balance of our economic structure, while money rates, low as they are, are equally unimportant.

In the latter case, I think abnormally cheap money simply reflects the extreme reluctance of those in possession of large amounts to employ it in securities, due to the feeling that, even if they are not going to get stocks any longer, they can without loss defer the actual time of buying. The time is undoubtedly coming when we can consider the market a buy on all dips, but as yet it does not appear to be here.

TORONTO MARKET

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—A slightly improved feeling was evident on the Standard Exchange today, but taken as a whole the list lacked a definite trend. Noranda was a little firmer, as also was Nickel, and the base metal stocks showed a better tone. The gold stocks were strong and all sought higher ground. The oils were practically unchanged, with a tendency to weaken.

Reviewing operations of Keeley Silver for the year ended February 29, R. Home-Smith, its president, in the annual report states that during the financial year 936,936 ounces of silver and 53,820 pounds of cobalt were produced. The gross revenue from all sources amounted to $492,537.25. The profits for the year amounted to $101,978.68, a decrease of $7,192.11 from the previous year. Net surplus as at February 28 of $767,422.97 shows an increase of $52,331.96 over 1929.

Vipond Cons. in its annual report for the year ended July 31, shows operating profit before depreciation and write-offs of $385,974, which is an increase of $85,430 over the $300,544 for the year immediately preceding.

An increase of nearly 28 per cent in ore reserves is one of the chief features of the report. On July 31 ore reserves were estimated at 163,525 tons, representing a value of $1,346,000, which compares with 128,500 tons valued at $1,040,000 as of July 3.

WHEAT MARKET TURNS FIRMER; GAINS SLIGHT

Prices Climb 1 1-2 Cents on Opening Rally but Later Lost Half of Advance

EXPORT SHIPMENTS OF GRAIN ARE INCREASED

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Strengthened by heavy export shipments and firmness in other grain markets, wheat values here today moved upward. Shortly after the opening gong prices climbed 1 1-2 cents, but the wide advance was not maintained. Heavy selling started in the final hour and figures dropped from the high points, closing the day at 3-4 to 3-8 cent above yesterday's final quotations.

Export shipments overnight were placed around 1,000,000 bushels, the heaviest movement for some time. Wheat prices at Chicago, Liverpool and Buenos Aires were firm, causing a stronger feeling here. The heavy export shipments and buying by export houses in the pit also lent a firmer character to the trading.

The November future in the final quotations stood at 67 1-2 cents and December at 67 3-4 cents. May and July closed at 73 5-8 cents and 75 1-4 cents, respectively. Reflecting the upward swing in the futures, cash wheat and coarse grains advanced fractionally on a fairly active market.

Weekly Review of Canadian Stocks

(Greenshields & Co., Montreal)

The record of price fluctuations on the Montreal Stock Exchange in the past week was somewhat similar to that of the preceding week, irregular recovery in the first part being followed towards the close by some yielding of the ground previously gained. On the whole, greater stability is becoming the outstanding characteristic of the market. Fluctuations are becoming narrower. Thus in the last three weeks the extreme movement in one well known series of market averages has been less than 5 per cent, whereas the corresponding movement in September was more than 10 per cent and in August more than 7 per cent.

In this direction of greater stability the stock market is giving a fairly faithful reflection of business conditions. If business is not much better, at least it is not becoming worse. Wide movements in commodity prices are subsiding. In the last fortnight of September wheat went through a range of 10c a bushel and finished the period near the lowest. The corresponding fluctuation in the last fortnight of October was less than 5c, with the close about half way between the highest and the lowest for the period.

A continuance of these stabilizing tendencies will go a long way to restoring confidence in values and will promote the further investment absorption of stocks which must lay the foundation for the next recovery of a permanent nature. No one can well overlook the fact that the unlimited appetite of the public for stock investments in 1928 and 1929 and the heavy issuing of new shares to supply that appetite have left the market, as result of large scale liquidation of speculative holdings, with a mass of undigested securities. While this is true more particularly of common stocks, it is also true of many preferred stocks and bonds which, partly because of poor distribution and partly because of forced liquidation in the speculative markets, are being quoted today at prices that cannot be considered an accurate reflection of values.

Correction of this situation, which is giving the public the most favorable buying opportunity in years, has been under way for some months and there are many impressive indications of a drying up in the floating supply of securities. Evidence of that appears in the steadily declining volume of credit tied up in security loans. Time is working on the side of recovery. For the recovery to be durable depends, however, to a very considerable extent on continued accumulation of new investment capital through savings and continued security absorption of the investment class. The latter demands relatively quiet markets as business conditions, actual and prospective, are not such as to make the investor feel that his buying must be hurried.

President Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in addressing the American Institute of Steel Construction this week, gave as one reason for his confidence in Canada that the people are "noted for their level view of things, their absence of hysteria and their sanity in viewing and grappling with their own affairs." The same attitude is noticeable in high banking quarters and it is an attitude more to be trusted by the investor seeking guidance as to whether he should or should not buy securities at this time than the attitude of a certain section of the speculative element who are finding it as difficult to see possibilities of a bottom being reached in the current depression as they did to see a top to the prosperity of a year ago.

An encouraging sidelight on conditions in one important industry is given this week in the report that construction awards for all Canada during the month of October amounted to $33,332,100, or a gain of about 3 per cent over September. Contemplated work reported upon during the month had a value of more than $56,000,000, or an increase of $11,000,000 over the previous month's total. Coming at this time, when seasonal contraction in new construction activities is ordinarily to be expected, these increases are decidedly encouraging.

At least two corporation statements published during the week were of interest because of the favorable trend of the results shown. With a small decrease in gross earnings, Canadian Pacific Railway came through the month of September with the substantial gain of $1,721,654 in net earnings, an increase of more than 34 per cent over the same month in 1929. This increase, following a smaller one in August, has brought the reduction in net earnings for the year, as compared with 1929, down from $7,630,377 at the end of July, or a 37 per cent decline, to $5,520,355 at the end of September, a decline of less than 21 per cent.

Distillers Corporation-Seagrams, Limited, operating in the face of the difficult conditions that prevailed in the distilling industry, made a notable performance in increasing profits for the year ending July 31 to $3,819,349, against $2,562,324 in 1929. The $1 dividend on the company's stock, which has been selling at a price to yield approximately 10 per cent, was earned two and a quarter times.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Raw sugar was firmer today in sympathy with the upturn in futures, but buyers showed no inclination to pay above $3.38, and sellers, generally, were asking about six points more. The only sales reported were concluded late yesterday and included 25,000 bags of Cuban for second half of November shipment at 3.38 and a similar lot for the same shipment at 3.39.

Refined was quiet and unchanged at 4.73 for fine granulated. Second hands were available at around 4.55.

CALGARY OIL NEWS

(Miller, Court & Co.)

CALGARY, Nov. 6.—One of the most interesting wildcat wells in Alberta, in view of the fact that many of the large Turner Valley companies own acreage on the structure, is the Cotton Belt well in the Highwood-Jumping Pound area, which was reported Monday at a little more than 200 feet in the Dakota formation.

The company is controlled by Pacific Coast interests, and is principally a mining organization. The well is located near Fish Creek, several miles north of the Richfield well in Waite Valley.

October shipments from British Dominion No. 2 totaled 2,530 barrels of naphtha, officials reported in their month production statement. This naphtha returned the company $9,335.70. On hand at the end of the month were 111 barrels of naphtha and 15 barrels of crude valued at $456.09. Since the well entered production early this year it has shipped 27,715 barrels of naphtha and 1,213 barrels of crude, with a total return to the company of $101,953.06. All figures allow for weathering and refinery deductions.

Meanwhile, the company's No. 3 well, drilled near the producer, is reported to be making steady progress toward the McDougall Segur sands, which are expected to be reached within a week or so.

Cellar work for Eastcrest No. 3 has been completed and construction of the derrick is starting, stated Harvey S. Price, managing director, last night. The cellar has been completely cemented to avoid water seepage. The well is located nearly 400 feet south of the company's No. 2 "A" well, front-rank producer of Turner Valley.

Atlantic Keystone Petroleum Company, Limited, has been financed to the extent of $5,000,000, it is announced by J. W. Hefferman, K.C., director, of Edmonton who is in the city in the course of an inspection of the company's Alberta holdings.

Early this week it was announced the company proposed to launch a $1,250,000 exploration and development programme in Alberta fields.

Mr. Hefferman informed the newspapers that the company's first venture in the province next Spring would possibly be in the Blood Reserve district, where a large tract of acreage is held. The initial phase of this work would probably be in the form of a core-drilling campaign to ascertain suitable deeptest locations. Of the company's 150,000 acres in holdings, 50,000 acres are in Alberta. Details of the programme for this province have not been completed, pending a thorough study of acreage in various areas, added Mr. Hefferman.

Deliveries to the Regal refinery for the month totaled 35,559 barrels, compared with the September volume of 11,905 barrels. In August 11,278 barrels were handled.

Vernon Irrigation Dam Is Completed

VERNON, Nov. 6.—The Vernon irrigation district has taken over the Haddo dam from Contractor Alex Smith. This new storage basin increases the amount of water which may be held in storage by 3,000 acre feet. It will prove a tremendous boon to the Vernon district, where the shortage of water has been one of the chief difficulties with which the fruitgrowers have to contend.

MONTREAL RALLY IS IMPRESSIVE

Stocks Would Do Better but for Sentimental Influence of Wall Street

ELECTION HAS EFFECT

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—The closing rally was quite impressive, not so much because of its actual breadth, but more for the very ability of the list to register a good improvement and hold it. In this, Canadian stocks were helped by Wall Street, just as they had been affected by their weakness.

Undoubtedly stocks here would do very much better were they not subjected to that sentimental influence which always manifests itself and will probably do for some time to come. A strange expression of this very influence is to be found in the action of the public utilities. While they were being driven hard in New York because of disappointment over the election result, the Canadian utilities were also inclined to ease back. There is no logical connection between these groups and no real reason why Canadian utilities should be depressed because American issues are.

Undoubtedly, if political conditions in the United States have taken or may take a turn unfavorable to the utilities, that very condition should make the Canadian issues stand out all the stronger in contrast because the relationship existing between the companies and the governments are essentially harmonious, which condition promises to continue for a long time to come. The Province of Quebec is a notable example of this type of harmony which has in the past turned international investment confidence towards securities such as Montreal Power, Shawinigan, Quebec Power, Southern Canada Power and similar shares.

Sales, 24,733 shares.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Acting more independently of New York, the Toronto Stock Exchange market went through a featureless session today, with volume of trading showing a decline at 12,634 shares.

Stocks left off practically at the same price level as that at which they had opened. Some of the interlisted stocks were easier around midday.

Nickel, Brazilian, Imperial, International Petroleum, Service Stations, Walkers, Distillers and Bell Telephone left off unchanged to slightly higher. Ford lost a small fraction and Massey-Harris closed under last night. B.A. Oil failed to recover all of a small loss earlier.

MONTHLY LETTER OF BANK OF COMMERCE SURVEYS SITUATION

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Perhaps it was inevitable Canada should follow the trend of world business, which was downward, says the monthly commercial letter of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It may be cold comfort, however, that there had been less cause for concern in Canada than in most other parts of the world.

The seasonal increase in business, which set in a month or so ago, has lifted the general economic trend somewhat above the level of the preceding months, when commercial activity touched the lowest point of the past year, says the bank's letter. The increase is most noticeable in textiles and footwear, while some of the so-called "heavy" industries are slightly more active.

Reverting to the past months of the year the letter points out that the decline in Canadian industry, especially manufacturing, during the third quarter of the year, is now seen to have been more severe than during the first half, but the past month has witnessed a slight improvement in some lines. This, however, is largely of a seasonal character and not sufficiently marked to raise the general level of business much above that of the late Summer.

NEW DOME MILL OPENS

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Dome Mines officials are at the property today to officially open the new fifteen-hundred-ton mill just completed.

Due to some difficulties in the mill and power trouble, recovery in October was lower than anticipated, about $45,000 being recovered from 11,000 tons milled.

PLAN IS APPROVED FOR MEETING POOL DEFICIT

Annual Meeting of Manitoba Organization Accepts Proposal Submitted by Directors

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—Directors of the Manitoba Wheat Pool today outlined to delegates in annual session a plan to pay off the organization's deficit on the 1929 crop. Unanimously approved by the delegates, the plan suggests that the banks continue to carry the 1929 account in the usual way for a period of years, guaranteed by the Government. It will now be submitted to the Government and the creditor banks.

Explanation of the plan indicates that the sum of $890,000 would be available for repayment to the banks on August 1, 1931, and $605,000 annually thereafter. The directors' statement says that by following out the plan "for the next few years, we hope to have the whole debt paid." The precise length of time necessary for repayment is unstated, as the total debit cannot be determined until unsold stocks of 1929 grain are disposed of.

OVERPAID FOR 1929

Farmers who were "overpaid" on the 1929 crop will be called on to aid in paying off the losses, according to the directors' proposal. The surplus for 1928, disclosed as $120,000, is very much less than the total of overpayments, but will be used to cover a portion of them. It is pointed out that farmers who did not deliver in the 1929 crop, and hence did not have an overpayment, will be paid their share of the 1928 surplus in due course.

MANITOBA'S SHARE

"Under present depressed financial conditions and low prices for grain," says the directors' proposal, "it is recognized that it would be out of the question to make special deductions out of the 1930 or future deliveries, it is the intention to take the customary deduction as in former years, for elevator and commercial reserves." It is stated that Manitoba's share of the overpayment is proportionately greater than that of the other two Prairie Provinces, due to the much larger deliveries of coarse grains, particularly barley; but that it is less than one-fifth of the total loss at August 31.

CANADIENS TO RETAIN SAME HOCKEY TEAM

Stanley Cup Champions Practically Identically as Last Season

MANAGER HART HAS STRONG DEFENSIVE

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—Practically the same group that won the Stanley Cup for Montreal last Spring will form the 1930-31 team of Les Canadiens in the National Hockey League race. With one exception this season's Canucks will be identically the same as last year.

The exception will be Johnny Gagnon, right-winger with last year's Providence team. The directors announced tonight that Arthur and George Giroux, together with Bud Cook, signed by the Canadiens last year, will play with Providence this season, along with Art Deseur, who is the property of the Canucks.

The farming-out of the four rookies leaves the Frenchmen with but two more men to send away for further seasoning, Palangio and Pursile. And they will be placed with a minor league club within a day or two, it was announced. All will be subject to recall by Canadiens.

Manager Hart has now two complete defence combinations and three forward lines to work this Winter. The Sylvio Mantha-Marty Burke defence crew will be aided by Leduc and McCaffrey in protecting George Hainsworth in goal.

The first string of Morenz, Joliat and Wasnie will have to work hard to keep the title from Lepine, Larochelle and George Mantha, while Rivers, Mondou and Gagnon will be the third string in name only.

TUNNEY STILL FIGHTING OFF COURT ATTACK

Ex-Champion of World Denies Mara Made Fight With Dempsey Possible

DEFENDANT NAMES POLITICAL POWERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Ghosts of the days when the late Tex Rickard was the king pin of the fight game and boxing was happy and prosperous, wandered today through Supreme Court, where Gene Tunney is fighting off a $500,000 attack on his bankroll.

Names to conjure with in the political field butted out in the testimony of the retired heavyweight champion as Tunney fired every gun against Tim Mara's action for breach of contract, dating back to Gene's pre-title days.

In his effort to prove that Mara, a Broadway bookmaker, had not alone made possible his fight with Jack Dempsey in 1926, and thereby won for himself the right to the 25 per cent of his ring earnings, Tunney brought up most of the names in the political register of New York Democracy as well as some Republican leaders.

By the influence, he said, which was brought to bear upon some of these men by others of them, Tunney sought to show that Mara's political power, through which the bookmaker claimed it was possible for Gene to get his chance at Dempsey, was small in comparison with other influences wieled on his behalf.

DUTKOWSKI NAMED CAPTAIN OF HAWKS

Veteran Utility Player to Lead Chicago in N.H.L. Squad—Edmonton Boy Farmed Out

LONDON, Nov. 6.—"Duke" Dutkowski has been elected captain of the Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League, according to an announcement made by Manager Tobin. Dutkowski is considered as the best utility player in the National League, as he is capable of playing defence, left wing or centre. He was a member of the Hawks three years ago, and was sold to Kansas City, but last year was repurchased.

The Black Hawks held another workout behind locked doors at the London Arena yesterday. Four forward lines were in action and the practices were held in relays, ending with a strenuous scrimmage. Rodger Jenkins, husky right-winger and defence player, who was signed by the Hawks last season, and who formerly played amateur hockey with Edmonton, has been farmed out to the London Tecumsehs, of the International League, for the season.

Special Match to Be Played at Gorge Vale Golf Club

On Thanksgiving Day a team representing the president and another flying the colors of the captain will clash in a special match at the Gorge Vale Golf Club. Members wishing to play are asked to turn their names in at the clubhouse. The match will be over eighteen holes, and the starting times will be posted at the first tee

NEW ICE RINK MAY BE BUILT HERE SHORTLY

Stan Smith Informs B.C. Hockey Body Construction of Arena Is Pending

VANCOUVER MAN NAMED HEAD OF ASSOCIATION

VANCOUVER, Nov. 6.—Art Jeffeird, one of the pioneers of amateur hockey in British Columbia, was elected president of the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association at the twelfth annual meeting here last night, succeeding J. C. Urquhart, of Rossland, who was unable to accept office for another term.

The meeting was representative of the various provincial districts. One of the outstanding remarks of the evening was that of Secretary Stan Smith, who announced that hockey would probably return to Victoria next year; that there was strong possibility of a new rink there. He also stated that Vancouver was reasonably sure of securing the Allan Cup finals in the Spring. Mr. Smith was re-elected secretary-treasurer and was highly complimented upon the efficiency of his work during the past year.

NEW SLATE OF OFFICERS

Following is the new slate of officers: Honorary president, Hon. Dr. S. F. Holmie, Victoria; honorary vice-presidents, S. G. Blaylock, Trail; H. C. Martin, G. F. Gyles, C. G. Pennock, George T. Cunningham and W. G. Murrin, Vancouver; president, Art Jeffeird, Vancouver; vice-president, K. W. Kinnard, Vernon; secretary-treasurer, Stan V. Smith, Vancouver; executive, A. E. Farthing, Revelstoke; C. D. Blackwood, Nelson, W. J. Cleave, Kimberley; J. P. Watson, Victoria; Allan Fellowes, and one other to be named by the Vancouver League.

The meeting was attended by representatives of the Vancouver Hockey League and its member clubs, Revelstoke intermediates and juniors, Kimberley seniors and Trail seniors. Outside members of the executive were: President J. C. Urquhart, of Rossland; Past-President Percy Watson, of Victoria; A. E. Farthing, of Revelstoke; W. J. Cleave, of Kimberley, and K. W. Kinnard, of Vernon.

Inquiries made here yesterday about the Vancouver report regarding the construction of a new ice arena elicited no information. All parties spoken to declared they had no idea as to who was behind the scheme. It is believed, however, that several prominent Vancouver men are interested.

GERMAN ARMY HORSEMEN IN FINE VICTORY

Capture International Trophy by Great Display at Garden

CANADIAN MAKES GREAT SHOWING

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The German Army team tonight scored an impressive victory as the officers and jumpers from six nations clashed for the first time in the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden for the International Military Trophy.

In an almost faultless exhibition of jumping over the strenuous course, Lieutenant Ernst Hasse and Lieutenant Harold Mown rode Derby and Kapfgerell, respectively, to clean-cut triumph in the class calling for the best pair of jumpers.

Lieutenant Halson Gisle and Captain Rolf Oern of the Swedish Army, rode Lake and Viard, respectively, into second place. Third went to the United States Army team of Avocat and Nigra, ridden by Captain William B. Bradford and Lieutenant Edward Woffer. The Irish Free State pair of Moonstruck and Roisin Duby, ridden by Captain U. G. O'Dwyer and Captain Cyril Harty, was fourth and last.

Making his debut in the National Horse Show, Lieutenant-Colonel W. F. Eaton, of Canada, and his Irish hunters, cut a wide swath in the green hunters' class today.

With four of his five show horses competing in the heavyweight and middleweight divisions of the green hunters' class, Lieutenant-Colonel Eaton carried off two firsts and two seconds.

Eaton's Ravenscraig, a six-year-old chestnut gelding, carried off the honors in the middleweight division, with Rainbow, a five-year-old, second. Radiance, another of the youthful Eaton jumpers, accounted for the blue ribbon in the heavyweight section in a close contest with his stablemate, Rathlea.

Cal Ewing, former president of the Oakland club, and Joe Bearwald, of San Francisco, who resigned as president of the Mission club to become a candidate.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

TO TAKE DOWN A PEG

Every once in a while we read about somebody being taken down a peg or two—the usual implication being that his conceit has been dissipated, his boasts reduced and exposed for their emptiness and the person himself has been put in his place—usually he has been considerably lowered in public esteem and in position in the community.

Like many other idioms in our language, we have appropriated this one from the parlance of the sea. Here, when two boats engage in combat, the vanquished always lowers its colors to the victor.

It is in allusion to the fact that these colors used to be manipulated downward by means of pegs that we have the colloquial expression, in the sense already indicated, to take down a peg.

"What does it mean by 'being candid,' father?"

"Speaking unto others as you would not like them to speak to you."

Pupil—I've added these figures up ten times.

Teacher—Very good.

Pupil—And there are the ten answers.

HI-Y LEADERS WILL GATHER AT Y.M.C.A.

Annual Meeting of B.C. Movement to Open Today at Local Association

FIFTY DELEGATES TO COME FROM MAINLAND

Close to fifty delegates of the Hi-Y movement in British Columbia will arrive in the city tomorrow morning from Vancouver and New Westminster to attend the annual provincial conference at the Y.M.C.A. The gathering will take up the whole of Saturday and Sunday. The movement, which was established in Victoria about eight years ago, has made steady headway year after year.

Ira Dilworth, principal of the Victoria High School; Rev. Bruce Gray, assistant pastor at the First United Church; Frank Fidler, provincial boys' work secretary for the Religious Educational Council, and George Ross, boys' work secretary here, will be in charge of the conference and will direct discussion groups during the various sessions.

Visiting delegates will arrive from the Mainland on the morning boat and will be met by local leaders. An hour late they will gather at the Y.M.C.A. for breakfast and at 8:30 o'clock billeting and registrations will be made.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

Shortly after 9 o'clock, the conference will be officially opened with the election of officers the first item of the agenda. Following this a short devotional period will be held, after which the main body will separate for group discussions. Before the lunch hour, annual reports will be tendered by the officers for consideration. Delegates will have the afternoon free and will return at 5:30 o'clock for supper, at which a special address will be delivered.

Discussion groups will again convene for another short period in the evening and at 8:15 o'clock the leaders will attend the induction ceremony at the Metropolitan Church.

SPECIAL SERVICE

Sunday morning the delegates will attend a special church service at 11 o'clock at the Metropolitan Church. New Westminster representatives will have charge of the devotional period in the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. From 3 to 4 o'clock groups will convene again, followed by another free period, during which the visitors wil be shown around the city.

Addresses will be given at the 6 o'clock supper, along with school reports and closing exercises. The gathering will wind up with the visitors in the Young Peoples' singsong in the "Y" lobby from 9 to 10 o'clock.

DRUG DISPENSARY OF MODERN TYPE OPENS

McGill & Orme Provides for Prescription and Other Services in New Store

Taking as the motto for its business transactions, "Pharmaceutical Excellence," the firm of McGill & Orme Ltd. is opening up, this morning, as prescription chemists exclusively. Located in the Castle Block, near the corner of Fort and Broad, something new in the line of drug stores is appealing to the medical profession and the general public of this city. As the motto infers, the new firm is making a bid for high quality in all lines.

The store is under the personal charge of W. W. McGill, whose experience in dispensing extends over twenty years. He is a graduate of the Ontario College of Pharmacy, holding the degree of Bachelor of Pharmacy from Toronto University.

His assistant in the dispensary is a well-known local chemist, Harold Davenport, who gained his experience in the profession with D. E. Campbell in this city and for the past four years Mr. Davenport has been in the dispensary at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

C. H. Orme, the other member of the firm, is a well-known chemist of this province, who is the proprietor of the Pioneer Drug Store in Prince Rupert. He is at present mayor of the northern city and prominent in the public life of that place. It is not Mr. Orme's intention to move to Victoria for the present at least.

NO FANCY LINES

Mr. McGill says the store will be something of the old apothecary shop brought up to date. It will confine itself to the filling of prescriptions, serving impartially the whole medical profession. In addition to this department, there will be kept sick room supplies, various serums, vaccines and extracts that are now in demand, household remedies and nonproprietory medicines which are in general use.

The store will not, however, carry the general line of goods which is nowadays met with in chain drug stores and similar places.

In the front part of the store there will be on display sick room supplies and scientific equipment, which is being carried by the firm for the convenience of the medical profession and others. The dispensary, which is the great feature of the store, is immediately back of this and separated by a plateglass partition. The carefully arranged shelves with the various supplies used are all in full view from the front part of the store, so that the full operation of dispensing is in sight.

Water is distilled in a modern equipment, while an electrical refrigerator takes care of the biologicals, covering serums and vaccines, insulin and liver extracts, and all drugs which require to be kept at a low temperature.

"It is the duty of everyone to make at least one person happy during the week," said a Sunday School teacher. "Have you done so, Freddy?"

"Yes," said Freddy?"

"That's right. What did you do?"

"I went to see my aunt, and she was happy when I went home."
